

WE NOMINATE

Arthur Washington Lithgow, enthusiastic and long-visioned "man of the theater," who this week enters upon his sixth season as Executive Director of McCarter Theatre, the University-subsidized operation that has come to mean so much in this community and the State of New Jersey. Between now and the close of a continuous 30-week repertory season in late April, McCarter, offering some 220 performances, including major musical events, film programs, special attractions with emphasis on the ballet, and community-generated productions, will attract more than 180,000 persons, or approximately 30,000 more spectators than will converge upon Palmer Memorial Stadium this fall for the University's home football games.

Tapped in the summer of 1963 by University President Robert F. Goheen as successor to Milton Lyon, director of the McCarter-based Princeton Triangle Club, the 53-year old Lithgow "breathes and lives the theatre" and is the kind of driver who works "round the clock in seeking to stretch McCarter's out-reach. The high aspirations he and the responsible University Faculty Committee hold for this enterprise are reflected in the event-packed program projected for the year ahead and this week's exciting opening, the premiere of a young black playwright's first major play, "The Village, A Party," which is concerned with the complexity of black and white relationships in today's seething world.

It was in 1961 that "The New York Times" first turned its eyes toward McCarter and predicted that Princeton's Center for the Performing Arts would be "an experiment that could be of momentous significance to the American theatre" and a venture "to be watched by our institutions of higher education. Since then, with Lithgow's arrival on the scene in 1961 as Associate Producer and Educational Coordinator, McCarter as New Jersey's only year-round legitimate theater has been phenomenally successful in rebutting the contention of a distinguished New Jersey educator who has repeatedly called this State "a cultural desert."

In his first two years in Princeton Lithgow literally "stumped" New Jersey, making scores of school visits and, in free moments, meeting with adult education groups anywhere. In 1961-62, some 25,000 school children were attracted to McCarter. The following year there were 40,000 and it is anticipated that by the close of the current season well over 310,000 youngsters will have been drawn to McCarter. And this fall, indicative of the "McCarter impact," the newly formed McCarter Children's Company over a span of six weeks is presenting 55 performances in South Jersey in elementary and junior high schools.

Lithgow's dedication to the theatre dates back to his undergraduate years at Antioch College and the establishment of Antioch's first student summer theatre. Three years at the Putney School in Vermont, war production work with Eastman Kodak, military service and graduate study at Cornell preceded his return to the Antioch faculty in 1947. From Antioch, where he taught for a decade and in the space of six years actually produced all 37 of Shakespeare's plays, his influence spread to educational undertakings across the country.

For helping McCarter "play its own full and responsible part" as one of the basic benefits offered by a university community; for grasping the educational significance of giving the upcoming generation a wide-ranging glimpse of the world's dramatic repertory; for constantly striving to add new dimensions to "life in Princeton"; he returns to TOWN TOPICS' cover as

ZONING LAW INTRODUCED
By Small Margin. The Borough's first new zoning ordinance since 1951 was introduced by Council at a special meeting Tuesday night — but just barely.

The ordinance squeaked through its introduction by a 3-2 vote, one Councilman abstaining. So much protest and discussion came from the audience before the vote, that the evening almost seemed like a public hearing.

The actual public hearing will be held at the regular November Council meeting on Tuesday, November 12, at 8 in Borough Hall. When some members of the audience held back Tuesday night, saying they preferred to speak in person, Councilman Robert Hendry said, "A law of this magnitude deserves all the comment and publicity it can get," and there was comment in plenty.

1 Protest. The Council Chamber was full of lawyers, prospective owners, builders and potential builders. What disturbs them is a section of the proposed ordinance cancelling all building permits as of the publication date of the public hearing notice, (probably next Thursday, October 24) unless the builder has "substantial construction" under way. It was this provision that stuck in the throat of two Councilmen, Mr. Hendry and Fred Peterson, and caused them to vote "no." Councilman William Walker abstained because his architect's firm designed the Pickering Building on Chambers Street. Proposed construction behind that building could be affected by the ordinance.

Samuel Lambert, counsel for Mr. Pickering, told Council the building permit restriction was "not a new thing" — it had been used by New Jersey's courts. He accused Council and the Planning Board of tailoring the provision to prevent expansion of the business center.

Thomas C. Jamieson Jr. spoke for his client, Edward Faroe of Carnegie Realty, who also spoke for himself. Mr. Faroe has been trying for years to start his "Princeton Plaza" at 360 Nassau near the Harrison intersection, and he has a building permit.

Mr. Jamieson said his client's $100,000 investment to build would be "completely wiped out." The Plaza was originally designed with a non-area ratio of 1.5, but under the new ordinance, in the MAN OF THE WEEK: Arthur P. Morgan, who marks his sixth season as McCarter Theatre's Executive Director with this week's world premiere.

Plaza's zone, the ratio has been cut to .6. Asks Legal Relief. The Borough has postponed introduction of the ordinance to seek legal advice on the thorny building-permit question. Since the municipal attorney, Gordon Griffin, had a conflict of interest, he withdrew and the Borough retained Lowell F. Curran Jr. to rule on the matter. Mr. Curran thinks the provision is in harmony with New Jersey court rulings.

Election Information
The annual non-partisan information on the November elections provided by the League of Women Voters is published as a special lift-out section in the center of this week's TOWN TOPICS. Included are biographical data and opinions on pertinent questions of candidates seeking the offices of Congressman, Freeholder and municipal seats in Princeton and West Windsor. Also provided is a helpful explanation of the four major public questions which will appear on the ballot.

The dark threat of legal action against the Borough was mentioned Tuesday night and Mayor Henry S. Patterson said, yes, he thought that law suits would indeed be coming along.

A provision of the ordinance allows the owner of non-conforming home or other building to re-build to the present floor area ratio, so long as the new building doesn't add to the non-conformity. However, if a non-conforming home or other building, should burn to the ground, the owner can't re-build. This is another reason Mr. Hendry voted "no." He also said he thought the Planning Board was registaring against the orderly growth of the community instead of offering solutions to traffic and growth problems.

70% More Cars. The Planning Board's concern over Princeton's growth was underscored Tuesday by board chairman Arthur P. Morgan at a press conference on the new ordinance.

"Unless the growth of the business-commercial area is limited, traffic will become impossible," Mr. Morgan predicted. "Our planning and traffic consultants project a 70% growth in ten years, that means 17 cars on Borough streets for every 10 cars you see today."

The new ordinance aims at limiting business growth by reducing building height in the center of town from five to four stories and cutting the floor area ratio in half, from 3.0 to 1.5.

This means a developer in the central business district can no longer put up a building three times the size of his lot, but will be restricted to a building one and one-half times the size of the lot.

Housing. The new code creates two new "apartment districts" around the central business area. Six-story buildings are permitted in one of these districts — the "R0-2" area where the Chambers-John-Hulith-Spring parking lots are — and also in the central business district itself, provided two of the six stories are devoted to low-income or moderate-income apartments. Also, six-story structures must be set back 100 feet from any residential district boundary.

The six-story provision is a compromise, Mr. Morgan explained. At public hearings held by the Planning Board in May and June, residents of the John Witherspoon neighborhood protested six-story structures as a "wall" and after the May hearing, the height was cut back to four stories. The 100-foot setback provision is designed to protect neighboring residential areas.

"Gasoline Alley." Business in residential areas is strictly limited. A "Neighborhood Business" district has been outlined for Jugtown, (the blocks around Harrison and Nassau) and along the north side of Nassau between Moran Avenue and Maple Street.

A gas station area has been established on the south side of Nassau between Olden Street and Murray Place. Gas stations will be allowed in that area only.

For the first time, the Borough will have Educational Zones, an "E-1" belt, per Continued on Next Page

... And Furthermore
 Borough Council sneaked in one or two items Tuesday night, although the extra session was called to introduce the new zoning ordinance.

Council introduced an amendment to the parking ordinance which would let people park overnight, in the lot off Moore Street behind the Nassau Street stores. Residents of the area petitioned for the parking privilege. Fee: $5 monthly. Public hearing November 12.

Also, Mayor Henry S. Patterson appointed Mrs. Alexander Hogland, 9 Quarry Street, to the Board of Health succeeding Miss Mildred Kaplan, who has moved from the Borough.

tracting adjoining residential zones, and "E2," or campus core, where an institution can develop with considerable independence.

In "E1," for example, building height is controlled, building can be only 80 feet high and if it is that high, must be 60 feet back from the residential zone.

Uses like dormitories and labs in this zone would require special permission.

To Review Plans. Also for the first time, the Borough will have site plan review. Any new building or major redesign, must go before the Planning Board for study or exit and entrances, pedestrian safety, building location and shadow projection, hours when the building will be used, likelihood that the structure will draw traffic through a residential zone. One or two family houses and "E2" constructions are exempt.

The plan will be reviewed by the Planning Board, not by a separate board, as in the Township.

Municipal parking garages are not only allowed, but urged, and the Planning Board wants Borough Council to work faster toward their construction.

"We're asking inclusion of $300,000 for these garages in the Borough's capital budget," Mr. Morgan reminded. "It's the third time we've made the same request."

Parking garages, planned for the central business district and two compact apartment districts, can be three stories high.

These zoning policies are based firmly on the 1967 Borough Master Plan, and I make that point as emphatically as I can," Mr. Morgan stated.

The Master Plan is only a guide; the Zoning Ordinance is the law we will live with every day.

CANDIDATES NIGHT SET
 For Area Voters. All Princeton Borough, Princeton Township and Montgomery Township candidates will discuss community problems next week at "Candidate Nights" sponsored by the League of Women Voters of the Princeton Community.

Borough Council Democratic candidates James E. Andrews, Mrs. Raymond Male, and Republicans Michael Erdman and Foster Jacobs, and Township Committee Republican candidates Burton Peskin, Carl Zahler Jr., and Democrats James A. Floyd and Thomas Hartmann will participate in round-table forum Wednesday night, October 23, at 8 p.m. in the John Witherspoon School auditorium.

Moderated by Mrs. Richard McCormick, from the Piscataway League of Women Voters, the discussion will center on problems of Princeton youth, the need for a local Human Rights Commission, and the involvement of the Princeton Health Departments in health problems of the community's lowest income group.

Each participant will make brief comments on the questions and then discuss each other's views. After the formal talk, the audience may submit questions not limited to the forum discussion, to any or all of the candidates.

Mrs. Charles Givarg has arranged for the Princeton night, with Mrs. Robert Kohn acting as timekeeper. Refreshments, to be served after the meeting to give voters a chance for informal conversation.

SHOPPING CENTER: No Planning Board Meets. "Very few people walk to a car wash."

That was the quote of the evening Monday night in Township Hall as the Planning Board.

Refused to require side walks alongside the new Lawrence Car Wash on Alexander Street.

Turned down the Shopping Center's site plan for the new A & P and the Bamberger's addition.

Approved Westminster Choir College's parking lot plans (with some strings attached).

Named a sub-committee to work with the Borough Planning Board on forming a joint Borough-Township planning body.

Told the Church of Christ that more topographical and site plan information must be presented before the board can decide whether the church should be allowed to build in the flood-plain next to the Kingston Bridge.

Announced the resignation from the Planning Board of Harold Erdman, who has moved into the Borough, elected the absent Carl Lindblom to replace Mr. Erdman as vice-president and named William Sutphin to succeed him as chairman of the board's Road Sub-committee.

Traffic Bottleneck. Last month, the Township's site plan review board ran off a long list of things it didn't like about the Shopping Center's plans for the new A & P and the Bamberger's addition.

The Planning Board deferred action, however, so that George Warnecke, who owns the Center, could meet with Planning Board members to talk it over.

That meeting did take place. Mr. Warnecke agreed to provide more restrictions on drainage, and he provided the lighting information missing from the original proposal. But the Township's chief and most anxious concern is still unresolved: the location of the new A & P and the potential traffic bottleneck between the A & P and the expanded Bamberger's.

The Township wants the Center to use more space for its project, specifically the 200-foot strip of land at the north of the Center, paralleling Terhune Road.

Mr. Warnecke has contended that this strip is in a separate mortgage agreement and cannot be used.

That Terhune Strip. However, on Monday night, Kester Pierson, Planning Board attorney, stated that the strip had been deeded without the required sub-division approval, and that Mr. Warnecke has been told the conveyance is void.

Also, Herman Greitzer, attorney for R. H. Macy, which owns Bamberger's, told the Board Monday night that the Terhune strip is definitely part of the Center.

Warnecke has said he will attend a meeting of the site plan review board on October 22. "Mr. Warnecke's 'yes' or 'no' runs the Shopping Center, and I hope you can persuade him to attend this meeting," said board member John Wallace to Mr. Greitzer.

"If I had any influence with him, we wouldn't be here!" Mr. Greitzer replied.

Police? No. It was also revealed on Monday night that the Township has again discussed with Mr. Warnecke the question of police supervision over Shopping Center traffic.

Mr. Warnecke is "reluctant" to give his permission, board members said.

The Center is scheduled to appear before Township magistrate Glen Miller this Wednesday on charges of violating the Township's new ordinance setting up standards for parking lot surfaces.

Walk to Your Car? It was Administrator Joseph R. Nini who wanted sidewalks along the car wash property. He reminded the board of the Township's desire to "upgrade" Alexander Street, eventually widening it and laying curbs. Mr. Nini was voted down, 5-1, but the board did tell Fredrick Lawrence, owner of the car-wash, that he would have to put in walks if the Township decides later on that they are needed.

It was board member William Sutphin who suggested that few car-wash customers are pedestrians.

No Exit. The propensity of young drivers to ignore "exit" and "entrance" signs made planning board members squirm a little over Westminster Choir College's new parking lot.

The exit is in the Borough, opening east, directly into the old part of Franklin Avenue. The Township is afraid drivers will zoom along Franklin going west, and sail right into the "exit." Since the "exit" is in the Borough, the Township can't do much about it.

The entrance, however, is in the Township, on the sharp curve on the new re-aligned Franklin. Students may just possibly use it as an exit, planners point out.

Mr. Wallace suggested treadles to keep drivers in line. In the end, the board just asked the Choir College to keep an eye on the danger potential and do what it could to steer drivers where they belong.

The board also asked the Choir College to light its entrance — in the Township — as well as its exit — in the Borough. Westminster Choir College has appeared before six municipal bodies in connection with its 59-car parking lot; Borough Zoning, Borough Council, Township site plan review, Borough Traffic Safety, Township Traffic Safety, Township Planning Board.

"I'm in favor of consolidation," commented Mr. Sutphin. Incidentally, the Township's Traffic Safety Committee doesn't like the parking lot at all, said Engineer Frank Quinn by.

Joint Planning Study. Four board members were appointed to match the Borough's four in talks about a Borough-Township joint planning board. They are Hans K. Sander, chairman of the Township Planning Board; Mayor Carl C. Schaefer, who is also a Planning Board member, John Wallace and Carl Lindblom.

Mr. Sander emphasized the unanimous agreement of the two boards that a joint one should be formed. The question is one of implementation, Mr. Sander explained.

Subdivision plans of Edwin L. Kimble to create four State Road lots, including one large enough to be built on, to be sold to Transcontinental Pipeline, were rejected, and Mr. Kimble was sent to the Zoning Board. He will appear there.

SCHOOLS SHOULD MERGE Says West Windsor Report.
West Windsor and Plainsboro Townships should merge their school systems from kindergarten straight through 12th grade.

That is the recommendation of the study made by Temple University for West Windsor. The study, which cost $19,000, was commissioned last year. The Princeton Regional School Board has informed West Windsor that it cannot accept the township's 360 high school students after 1970.

The Temple study suggested a six-year regional high school for the two communities, to be ready by September, 1971.

The study was an overall one, exploring West Windsor's schools in depth. The Temple experts said that West Windsor needed a bigger and better library, especially bigger "textbook libraries" and a laboratory work in science classes; better reading programs in seventh and eighth grades; more attention to the individual learning needs of students; more encouragement of individual study.

The report also included recommendations for reorganizing the administrative structure of the school system and the school board.

ONLY ON WEDNESDAYS
Questionnaires Returned.
"We're pleased with the response — it was very fruitful," commented Mrs. Elaine Solomon of the Regional Schools' Wednesday Council, as she tallied the replies to the Council's "Wednesday" questionnaire.

The Council sent out 7,000 questionnaires asking what parents would like to have their children do on the free Wednesday afternoons scheduled to start January 1.

There were 249 returns from the 7,000. Of these, 204 were from parents of children in the public schools.

Some kind of community activity was requested by 105, and 32 of these told the Council that a Wednesday afternoon closing session a hardship for working mothers — 22 of them with children in the elementary grades, 10 with youngsters in the Middle School.

"We think maybe the low return of only 249 questionnaires indicates that parents don't really have deep anxiety over the program," Mrs. Solomon suggested.

She added that most of the opposition expressed in the questionnaires came from people who don't have children in the schools — "they didn't do this kind of thing when I went to school," and so on.

- Older pupils working with younger ones, in tutoring or play activities . . . classes in foreign languages or music . . . apprenticeships in business . . . use of the schools' libraries for extra projects.

- Volunteer work, perhaps in various local government offices to give youngsters a chance to do something useful for the town.

- Field trips with volunteer parents.

- Visits to public schools in Trenton for some specific project.

- Drama workshops . . . visits to McCarter Theatre to watch rehearsals.

- Creative writing . . . filmmaking . . . art classes . . . instruction in such "useful arts" as upholstery, carpentry, knitting.

- Sports . . . individual science projects . . . special films for children at the local motion picture theatres.

- Next will be a questionnaire to citizens in Princeton asking what they would like to explore with the teaching and administrative staff during the discussion seminars planned for the Wednesday afternoons. About 50 Princeton residents will probably be involved.

involved, according to the Council's proposal.

The chairman of the teachers' Wednesday Council is Dr. Constance Vieland, school psychologist. Other Council members are Mrs. Solomon, who teaches in the Middle School; Mrs. Jean Logan, school social worker; Lawrence Mansier, English teacher at Princeton High School; Mrs. Yukiko Tamashiro, Riverside teacher; Allen Kirschner, English teacher at Princeton High School and John Wolfkell, associate superintendent of schools and liaison with the administration. IN McCARTER PREMIERE: These two actors will be in McCarter Theatre's world-premiere presentation of Charles Fuller's new play, "The Village: A Party," opening this Friday night at McCarter. Leslie Rivers and Robert Blackburn are shown in a scene from the play.

News Of The THEATRES

THE TIME IS NOW
For McCarter Opening, "The Village: A Party," McCarter Theatre's opening play for the 1968-69 season, is a "now" play about black-white relationships in the modern world. The play is a first for McCarter: the first time the theatre has ever given a play in premiere as part of its repertory series.

Other premieres at McCarter in past years, have been "Our Town," "You Can't Take It With You" and "Bus Stop." Anne Murray, who has appeared before on McCarter's repertory stage, and Ed Bernard of Philadelphia, are rehearsing lead roles with director Arthur Longow. The play is by Charles H. Fuller of Philadelphia.

"BY GEORGE!"
Shaw, of Course. Diaries, prefaces, letters and speeches by George Bernard Shaw have been utilized for the British actor Max Adrian's one-man show, "By George" which will play McCarter Theatre Monday, November 11.

Mr. Adrian's Shaw evening is in the tradition of Hal Holbrook and "Mark Twain Tonight." The actor uses material assembled from Shaw's writings by director Michael Voysey, employing only two chairs and a table as props.

He comes on in brisk and youthful stride, wearing knickers. By the end of the evening, still brisk and youthful, he is white-haired with cane.

MEKAS, BY MEKAS
Filmmaker and Films. A program of works by Jonas Mekas will have commentary by Jonas in person, when McCarter opens its "New Cinema" film series next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Advance single admission tickets are now on sale, and so are subscriptions to all ten film programs in the series.

Mr. Mekas, editor of "Film Culture," will show the full-length version "The Brig," his film of Kenneth Brown's play on life in a Marine Corps jail. The film won the Venice Festival Grand Prize as "Best Documentary."

LEARNING IS MOCKED

In Intime Plays, Theatre, Intime's production of "The Clouds," which resumes this Thursday through Saturday at Murray Theatre, is magnificent—but it is not Aristophanes.

Nor unapologetically is it good theatre. The Intime company has used this witty satire on soph-istry and pedantry like a bunch of kids holding a wild party in a rented mansion.

Most of the structural and decorative fixtures of Aristo-phanes' venerable work have been seriously damaged by a series of undergraduate amateurs' bizarre lighting effects, slides flashed on the stage, horrible puns, biological jokes and gestures, nodding on stage and actors pumping into and out of the audience.

Director Robert Rockwell has maintained this level of bad taste throughout the production.

Some Hilarious Moments. It would be prudish to deny that the show is sometimes riotous-ly funny, but it would be phil-istinic to deny that it is the opposite of good theatre: inventive rather than creative, clever rather than intelligent, surprising rather than moving,
anathema rather than gripping.

Not everything Intime has done is condemnable, however.
Obviously some liberties will have to be taken with the original text if the spirit and tone of Greek comedy are to be adapted to the 20th century.

Thus, to modernize the language and to play the characters in 20th century comic accents is all to the good. To restore vulgarity which the Victorians suppressed from Aristophanes' humor, also serves the cause of artistic integrity as well as dramatic effectiveness.

But this is as far as one need go to bring out the contemporary relevance of the work. To project slides of Nassau Hall or George Wallace only distracts from the drama and cheapens the effect.

Effects Are Irrelevant. And there is certainly no justification for the succession of to-pically irrelevant theatrical effects which culminate in an orgy of dramatic nihilism at the end of the show. As all

BARBARELLA: With Jane Fonda in the comic-strip title role, plays the Princeton Playhouse and the Prince this week.

kinds of lights flash and bodies dive and fly every which way to the music of Simon and Garfunkel, Jules Styne and Beethoven, any possible significance to what has gone before is violently denied.

Among the praiseworthy aspects of the show are very funny performances by Jon Lorraine as Socrates, and the much harried father who hopes that his son will be able to fast-track his creditors out of collecting their debts after learning the polemical methods of Socrates, and by Richard Ferrigno, as the imperious pseudo-intellectual himself.

While Aristophanes got his message across with a magic wand, Rockwell makes most of his points with a hammer. This same tendency has led director Larry Strichman to deface his otherwise professional production of "The Lesson" on the same program with a huge sign over the set reading
"Knowledge Is Power."

This is apparently for those who might not otherwise get the point of Inesco's violently funny assault on civilization in general and academics in particular.

Deborah Savidge gives the best performance of the evening as the vivacious young lady who comes to grieve through the study of philology. As the author of her troubles, Geoff Peterson is physically too powerful and dramatically a little too overwrought at the beginning, but he carries off the climax very well.

IT'S NEW To Us

THE SQUIRES TAKE OVER
From Douglas MacDaid. The Country Squire has opened at Nassau and Chambers Streets, taking over Douglas MacDaid, tweeds, twills, rep ties and all. You'll find Joe Cox and Bernie Olbrys still there. Squire Cox, who began with MacDaid in 1910, is one of the partners. The change-over is as imperceptible as the changes in men's clothing styles, with the center vent — natural shoulder, as Squire Cnx, a native Princetonian, puts it, still the biggest seller.

"We're the old, traditional type of men's store," he adds, standing against a rack of conservatively wild plaid jackets. "There's no high pressure here. We like people to look around and take their time."

The Squires have read with interest in the New York papers that the Mao fad has become a drug on the market. "Well," they shrug. Their own stock in tweed, shetlands and tweeds, has a steady market.

They have a big Princeton alumni trade, developed steadily over the years since MacDaid opened in 1931. "A customer last week, from the Class of '42, lives in Winnetka. He still comes back." The alumni send their sons in when they enter Princeton.

The store issues a catalogue each year before Christmas, which draws great responses. "We ship to the West Coast, Canada, Switzerland..." Bernie Olbrys laughs, thinking of the mountain of packages. Assistant to Mr. Cox, and a Trenton resident, he joined MacDaid in 1940. He was formerly with J. Press when that firm had a store in Princeton.

The Country Squire (we may as well get used to the new name) carries those wonderfully soft shetland plaid sport jackets that are big this year. Also the new plaid and twill slacks. Much of its merchandise is imported from England and Scotland. Sports coats range from $50 to $90; suits from $100 to $145. It's all ready to wear, with a tailor on the premises for the alterations that mean an impeccable fit.

"In recent years," Squire Cox muses "customers have been buying more plaids. We don't duplicate the plaids; can't do that! We stock six of each plaid — one in each size."

The MacDaid's shops in Princeton and New Haven were managed from New York. With the breakaway, The Country Squire will use its new-found independence to cater even more closely to the tastes of the customers here. "We're going to carry more variety than before — we'll have a bigger selection," Squire Cox announces. "We take care of the girls, too," he adds. "They buy shetland sweaters here."

FOREVER AMBER
At Princeton Gift. Amber, the golden sap of prehistoric coniferous trees that grew on the shores of the Baltic Sea 60,000 years ago, is the only gem that feels warm to the touch.

This is one of several curious aspects of amber that you'll notice when you stop by at Princeton Gift Shop on Palmer Square where a deeply beautiful variety of amber jewelry has just arrived.

Apparently, way back in the Tertiary period, the golden sap caught and trapped all sorts of vegetation, insect life and even tiny drops of water, holding them in a perfect state of preservation over the centuries. You'll see this in a flowing, dazzling amber pendant with tiny leaves trapped in a flowing transparent turtleneck of amber.

Amber varies in size from a tiny drop to an eight inch golden sphere, and you'll find it used in modern, fascinating ways in jewelry. Princeton Gift has bracelets of linked amber, necklaces, pins, the colors varying from clear golden transparent yellow to rich antique brown. The prices range from $12 for a small pin to $50 and up for necklaces.

"MOST CUSTOMERS KNOW THEY WANT," is the experience of 54 years on Nassau Street by Bernie Olbrys (left) and Joe Cox of the new Country Squire, gleaned during the years when the store was known as Douglas MacDaid. "Quite a few women come in to help buy — but some men don't like their wives to come with them."

play only the adult admission price when adult or art films are playing. "When we tell the youngster he's going to have to pay for an adult ticket this usually stops him."

Steve Marrs, at the Prince said that he would ask for drivers' licenses or draft cards when a young-looking teenager arrived at the box office. But how to catch the sixteen-year-olds, he admitted, is a problem. "Normally you can tell on sight that a person is under sixteen. We have found in the past, the kids just don't come when an adult film is showing in a shopping center theatre. The downtown theatre will have much more trouble, because they walk to the theatre. The Prince is all more or less adult, anyway. For instance, we don't play Disney. The majority of the Prince audience, he adds, is dating couples, "about 60%," most of the rest are older adults.

FILMS SPONSORED

By Stevenson Hall, Princeton University's Stevenson Hall present three films in the next two weeks which have never been commercially released in the United States. They are the first in a series of programs to examine "the explosion of the arts."

The films, which will include shorts, are "The End of August at the Hotel Ozone," and "Martyrs of Love," both Czech and "Vall, the Witch of Positano," an American documentary of an artist with witch-like powers.

"The End of August at the Hotel Ozone," a look at society after a third world war, won first prize at the International Festival of Science Fiction Films at Trieste, while "Vall" won a first in the Mannheim Film Festival.

Admission is $1.25 per film.

MEDITATION IS TOPIC

Of Maharishi's Film. A movie taken during an address by Maharishi Mahesh Yogi at a Harvard Law Forum will be screened at 9:30 p.m. on Monday in the Westminster Choir College Playhouse. The sponsors are the Students' International Meditation Society of New York.

NEWCOMER Sandra Locke reveals rare talent in the role of the adolescent girl who rejects giving up her room to a deaf-mute, played by Alan Arkin, in the film version of Carson McCullers' "The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter," now at the Garden Theatre.

According to the sponsors, a meditation center will be opened in Princeton during the coming year. The film is intended to serve as an introduction to the philosophy and practice of transcendental meditation. The SIMS states that over 15,000 students on 40 campuses use the Maharishi's meditation technique, and that Jerry Jarvis, president of SIMS, will speak here next month.

PRODUCTION PLANNED

By Pennington Group. The Pennington Players have set, "Barefoot in the Park" as their fall production, to be directed by Miss Cozy Spitzer of Princeton, a drama graduate of the University of Minnesota. Tryouts will be open to the public Sunday from 8:10-3 p.m. and Monday from 1:15-5 p.m. in the Pennington Fire House on Main Street.

PLAYHOUSE & PRINCE

Barbarella (now playing) is a comic strip satire that pokes at sex, the bomb, the pill, religion and philosophy.

It opens with Barbarella (Jane Fonda), an astronaut in the year 40,000 stripping off her space suit in the plushy boudoir of her space ship. When she gets down to the buff, she is told to "stand by for a message from the President." "Love," says Earth President Claude Dauphin. "Love," responds Miss Fonda. He instructs her to find a missing earth scientist who has the secret of the positronic ray, which can shatter the universe. She curls up on her sunken plexiglass bed, leaves word with her computer to call her at a certain hour, but is rudely awakened when her space-ship goes out of control and crash-lands on the planet Lys-theon.

Here she is beset by beautiful dolls with razor-like teeth rescued by Ugo Tognazzi (big love scene), flies off in her repaired space ship, crashes a gain, this time in "The Labyrinth," a purgatory-like place where she meets Professor Marcel Marceau, and the blind fallen angel Pygar (John Phillip Law) who has wings but flies not because he lacks morale . . . a problem Barbarella solves by a visit to his nest.

So it goes. Jane Fonda never departs from her appealing but never-real comic strip dimension. Milo O'Shea is outstanding as the Concierge of the paradise of evil, and for some reason, John Phillip Law is beautiful as the angel.

Photographed in muted color, there are strange other planet landscapes, weird cinematic effects, exploding finally in a bubbly red apocalypse. And, in spite of the advertising, the sex scenes and nude scenes are so detached and clinical that they are as stimulating as oyster stew.

GARDEN & RKO TRENT

"The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter" (now playing.) Carson McCullers' novel, in a somewhat watered film version, stars Alan Arkin, who gives a perceptive performance as the deaf-mute, Sandra Locke, in the role of Mick Kelly, is excellent, as is Percy Rodriguez in the romantic part of the Negro doctor. It is tasteful enough for the whole family.

The two candidates urge further research into public transportation to ease Princeton's traffic burden. Mr. Andrews suggested that some merchants might be willing to subsidize a mini-bus.

A study committee should be formed," Mr. Andrews recommended "starting with studies already made, and using the intelligence and resources of Princeton's business community."

On Youth, Mrs. Male urged municipal support for the Princeton Youth Center, with the goal of placing the Center under the Recreation Commission. She proposed that the Borough "forgive" the $150 a month now paid to the Borough by the Center, and the Township he asked to match that figure for a $300 monthly total.

With $3,600 a year," Mrs. Male said, "we could buy a lot of programs — we could subsidize two-week camping trips, the way Trinity Church did this summer, or start a photography club with a dark room and an instructor, for the 10 boys and girls who have and they would like one."

The candidates cited two needs in Princeton's youth program: across-the-board coordination among schools, churches and youth groups; and searching to find the gaps in the Youth Center's own program.

Speaking of young people on Nassau Street, Mrs. Male said, "They hang around to see what's going to happen," and she suggested the problem would vanish quickly if newspapers imposed a blackout on all news of Nassau Street (see page 4).

"It's a crime for Miss Fine's gym to sit there empty," Mrs. Male continued. "Why isn't it ways a concerned Democrat being used?" Lots of organizers who takes the initiative," he said, "anybody who could use it, could contribute to the cost of plumbing and heating. Folk-dance groups, the dog obedience classes, the Princeton Arts Council, indoor tennis players — anybody who needs a gym."

Housing, "I am opposed to black-top and I want to stack parking lots with housing," Mr. Andrews stated, "two-thirds of Princeton: policemen and teachers have to find housing outside of the town they work in — we have a one class community."

Mr. Andrews said he would continue to push for better housing opportunities for the entire community.

"And I give full-fledged cooperation for anything that takes traffic around the Borough rather than through it," he stated.

Planning, Commenting on the recent announcement that Borough and Township Planning Boards would explore joint planning, Mr. Andrews said, "It's laughable, when you consider that our Health and Welfare departments are still separate, three years after the Dilly report's recommendations."

He charged the Borough with not investigating thoroughly enough the economies to be achieved in a joint Borough-Township services.

He accused Republicans of taking credit for the Lloyd Terrace housing for the elderly project and for recreation facilities. "In housing, regional planning, recreation, it is all Male continued. "Why isn't it ways a concerned Democrat being used?" Lots of organizers who takes the initiative," he said, "anybody who could use it, could contribute to the cost of plumbing and heating. Folk-dance groups, the dog obedience classes, the Princeton Arts Council, indoor tennis players — anybody who needs a gym."

REPUBLICANS

In the Borough, Republican candidates in the Borough (toured Pine Street the day after residents of Pine appeared before Borough Council protesting the condition of street surface and curb).

"We must provide the additional funds to permit the Borough Engineer to maintain all Borough streets in satisfactory condition," stated candidate Foster Jacobs, "It's false economy to make continual patches and make-do repairs rather than resurfacing streets as they need it. Major reconstruction, which is now necessary on Pine Street, is much more expensive than periodic resurfacing."

Mr. Jacob's Republican running mate, Michael Erdman, said:

"Pine Street is in deplorable condition and only major reconstruction will remedy the situation. If Mr. Jacobs and I are reelected we promise to vote for the necessary funds to carry out the rebuilding of Pine Street next year."

IN THE TOWNSHIP

Democrats, Township Committee candidates Thomas Hartmann and James Floyd this week urged a joint Township-Borough health department so that the Township could qualify for state health aid. The Township alone does not meet the 25,000 population minimum requirement. The candidates charge that the Township did not attend a state health meeting a year and a half ago although neighboring communities did. "One result is, we lost out on state health funds," Mr. Floyd charged. He referred to the Borough's health department merger with West Windsor, resulting in state health funds for both municipalities.

The candidates repeat their proposal for a Research Park Development Group to seek tax ratebates for the Township. They charge the Republicans with talking about maintaining Princeton's "character" while "arbitrarily locating a large and noisy post office next to a residential area, a proposal opposed by over 416 Township residents and the Township Zoning Board."

Mr. Floyd and Mr. Hartmann also charge the Republicans with taking credit for projects that originated elsewhere. Mr. Floyd states that he proposed a Human Rights Commission three years ago and discussed it this August with state officials. He takes the Republicans to task for proposing "only a study group without a deadline" for a human rights commission.

Mr. Hartmann claims that "concerned residents" have made most of the innovations in the Township, and he cites Princeton Community Housing, Inc., a non-profit organization composed of various churches and clubs.

Republicans, Carl C. Schafer and Burton Peskin, running for re-election to Township Committee, this week pledged "to continue to manage the Township's revenue with prudence, economy and common sense."

The candidates state that "in three of the six years Mayor Schafer has served, the municipal tax rate has either been cut or undergone no change and in two years there was a modest increase." In the sixth year, a meaningful comparison is not possible because the assessment base was revised.

For the current year, the 4% increase was required, the candidates point out, because of police salary increases authorized by referendum in 1966, an increase in support for the public library and a rise in payments to the Borough for incinerator and sewage disposal.

"We are proud to contrast our record with that of Mercer County, which governed where. Mr. Floyd states that he proposed a Human Rights Commission three years ago and discussed it this August with state officials. He takes the Republicans to task for proposing "only a study group without a deadline" for a human rights commission. The candidates state that more funds will be needed for recreation, housing code enforcement, streets and police protection. Referring to criticism of the decision to build a new Township Hall, the candidates state:

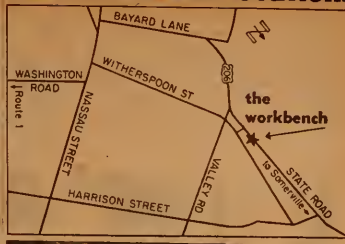

"We invite anyone who is unaware of the inadequate and deplorable conditions under which the Township's business must be conducted in the present building, to visit Township Hall and see for himself what our loyal police and administrative employees have to put up with."

ARREST PINE ST. COUPLE
In Narcotics Raid, A Pine Street couple are awaiting action by a Mercer County Grand Jury following their arrest early Friday morning after a raid by members of the New Jersey State Police Narcotics Unit and the Borough police.

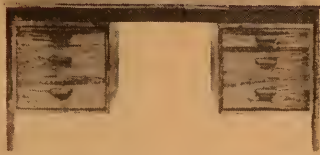

LI. Michael Carnevale of the Borough police identified the two as Martin H. Grub's 50% Pine Street and his 18-year-old wife, Deborah. They were charged with unlawful possession of narcotics, possession of prescription and general drugs and possession of hypodermic needles and narcotic paraphernalia.

A PROPOSAL FOR POSITIVE DISSENT

"Millions of anti-Administration Democrats now face a terrible disfranchisement. If we stay away from the polls, we shall most certainly help to elect Richard Nixon, who will most certainly mistake this as a sign that the temper of the country is with him — so to let loose in 1969 a violence sure to be worse than what we have seen.

Politics is the art of working with what you have. We Democrats now have an organization man, nominated under circumstances which no apology of his can disavow. Yet it is rumored that he had a noble youth. And it is said the Presidency often brings out the better in a man.

Yet I cannot vote for Hubert Humphrey unless he and all know what my vote means. The duty now of all anti-Humphrey Democrats is to help us express ourselves in vote.

The mails exist, as a start, and they can be powerful. We must be provided with some immediate, en masse means of saying to the nominee and to the party: 'I am a Democrat opposed to Administration policy. Although you were not my candidate for the nomination, I plan to vote for you because I cannot on any score vote for Nixon. Sir, if you get the people's mandate, remember me.'

Some such memo should be put in our hands as soon as money and mimeograph can make it — as the start of a program to provide us with a positive modus vivendi for the next two months. Democrats for the memo, and Republicans if may be, can be a force within the election, to be reckoned with now and after.

We, the deciding, independent voters, must at once have some honorable expression made open to us — and made clear to all — which will allow us to work with the Democratic party. Apathy now — which everyone of us feels — could be tragedy by winter."

Hortense Calisher

Aug. 29, 1968

We the undersigned residents of the Princeton area are anti-Administration Democrats and Republicans. However, as the tenor of the Nixon-Agnew and Wallace campaigns becomes increasingly strident and reactionary, we are more and more convinced that in the election of Humphrey and Muskie lies our best hope for peace and justice at home and abroad.

We have bought this space to bring to attention the above letter which was published in The New York Times on September 5. We urge all voters, especially those who are considering dissent by silence on November 5, to give this statement their consideration and to use the suggested memo or write their own* to register their dissent and, then, to vote, for Humphrey and Muskie.

The raid was conducted at 12:30 Friday morning by Detective Sgt. Joseph Flynn of the state Narcotics Unit. Also taking part were Joseph Grapara, an investigator for the unit, and Lt. Carnevale and Detectives Charles Harris and John J. Bellow of the Borough Police.

Lt. Carnevale reported that the raid was the result of a month long investigation. As a result of the investigation, Borough Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. issued a search warrant to Detective Flynn. Lt. Grapara said the officers uncovered quantities of narcotic drugs, LSD, prescription drugs, hypodermic needles, but he declined to describe the amount of drugs that were seized.

The pair were given a hearing before Judge Tams the same day. No bail was set and they were released, pending the outcome of the grand jury investigation.

TOWNSHIP SITES?

For Housing. Middle-income housing in Princeton Township moved a step forward this week. Princeton Community Housing, Inc. announced the appointment of both site and architect committees to start working toward middle income housing in the Township.

P. C. H. has always thought in terms of housing in both Borough and Township. But the Township phase had to be postponed until adoption of a Master Plan allowing low and middle income housing. Last June, the Township Planning Board passed the Master Plan, allowing 200 units of low and middle income non-profit housing for the immediate future.

S. L. DiDonato has been named chairman of the Township Site Study Committee for P. C. H. and Minot C. Morgan

Reminder In Voters

Residents of Mercer County, who are planning to move to another state or county prior to the November 5 general election, are reminded by William H. Paley, Mercer County Clerk, that Monday, October 28 is the deadline for receiving application for presidential ballots.

If you are a registered voter of this county, and will not be eligible to vote in your new state or county because of residence requirements, you should apply to the County Clerk's office (P.O. Box 1777, Trenton, 08607) or your municipal clerk's office for an application.

Jr. has been appointed chairman of the Township Architect Selection Committee.

H. Philip Minis will continue as chairman of the Borough Site Study Committee and George C. Alexander as chairman of the Architect Liaison Committee.

When P. C. H. has chosen a Township site, the non-profit corporation will apply to the state's Department of Community Affairs for a pre-development loan.

Such a loan has already been approved for the Borough, although the actual check is not yet in hand.

Borough, Too. The primary Borough site chosen by Robert L. Geddes, architect for the Borough phase, and Mr. Minis' committee, is the Borough-owned parking lot that adjoins the Princeton Public Library. Mr. Geddes, in addition, likes to envision a "town center" utilizing the parking lots around the Playhouse that are owned by Palmer Square, Inc., and the Chambers Street lot owned by the Borough.

The architect proposes housing some shops and offices and open, park-like areas for these pieces of land. He would provide enough parking to replace the present parking lots and also accommodate the new apartments.

Mr. Geddes suggests first consideration for the Borough-owned lot next to the library because he feels that financial details and necessary approvals could be worked out quicker with the Borough than with a private owner.

$7,200 IS STOLEN

In Theft at Geneva Inn. Burglars believed to have had a master key to a door at the Geneva Inn on Route 1 stole an 800 lb. safe holding checks and cash totalling $7,200 Sunday night.

Lawrence Township Police said that the loss was discovered about 9:30 Monday morning, when Mrs. Margaret Sands, employed as a secretary, came to work. She found the front doors of the restaurant ajar and the inside office door ajar open.

The safe contained approximately $7,000 in cash and checks, and two small cash boxes holding a total of $200 were also taken. Police said entry was made through the front door and that the safe was taken out the same way. Joseph Kulak, the owner, said that a master key must have been used to obtain access to the building without breaking and entering. The front doors are secured with bolt action locks, he reported, adding, "I can't see how they got in with our keys."

MAY KILLED IN SUBWAY Nephew of Jan Rajchman, Nicholas Scharnowski, 21, was killed in New York Monday night about 7:30 by a subway train. He is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Rajchman of 288 Edgerstone Road.

Police said that Mr. Scharnowski was standing in the Christopher Street station when he either fell or jumped in front of an oncoming northbound train. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

HOW DEEP IS A POT-HOLE? SAFE, $200 TAKEN
 From Dorothea House. Thieves entered Dorothea House at the corner of John and Avalon Place sometime Monday night or early Tuesday morning and carried off a 2-foot square safe containing about $200.

Detective Robert McAvonia, who with Detective John J. Bellow, is investigating the theft, reported that the safe also contained payroll and blank checks. The latter were drawn on the Princeton Bank and Trust and were imprinted with the Family Service emblem. Although they require two signatures, Detective McAvonia said he did not think this would prevent the thieves from trying to cash them.

The entry was reported by Francis G. Clark, general secretary for the Mercer County YMCA, who has an office in the building. Six dollars in cash and a roll of six-cent stamps were taken from his desk. All the offices in the building were rifled, according to Det. McAvonia. In addition to Mr. Clark's office and that of the Family Service Agency of Princeton, the building houses offices of the Youth Employment Service, Gagliardi Lodge of the Sons of Italy in America and the Central New Jersey YMCA Camp.

Entry was gained by breaking in an window and reaching in and unlocking the latch. Det. Avonia said the window was located just above a fire escape which the burglars used to carry down the safe. There were also pry marks around a door on the John Street side of the building.

YMCA "Hit." Too. Five days earlier, between 1:15 and 5:00 Wednesday morning, there was a breaking and entering and larceny at the YM-YWCA building on Avalon Place, a block away. So far, police have received reports listing $341 taken.

Entry was made by breaking a plate glass door leading to the swimming pool complex and although some drawers were rifled in the complex, nothing was taken.

From there, the intruder smashed a plate glass window on the north side of the main building to gain access to all its offices. All the desks in the building were gone through.

Also taken were checks. These were recovered later by police near the rear of the old Bannum property off Berrien Court.

TWO DRIVERS HURT
 At Intersection Crash. Two drivers were hurt early Sunday morning after their cars collided on the Princeton-Kingston Road at the intersection of Locust Lane. The mishap occurred at 1:56 a.m. Admitted to Princeton Hospital was Riela Giovanni, 36, of The Great Road. Mr. Giovanni received a compound fracture of the arm, multiple lacerations to his head and contusions of the left knee.

The other driver, William F. Dale, 26, of South Charleston, W. Va., was treated at the hospital for bruised knees and released. Both were transported by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

Township police said that Mr. Dale was making a U-turn on Locust and proceeded onto the Princeton-Kingston Road into the path of Mr. Giovanni's small foreign car. He was ticketed by Ptl. Frank Bocanassa for failing to yield after stopping at a stop sign.

Mr. Dale was driving a sports car. Both cars had to be towed away.

CAR CATCHES FIRE
 Jammed Hood Hinders. Police. A jammed hood prevented Borough police Sunday morning from extinguishing a motor fire in a car owned by a Trenton minister.

The Rev. C. A. Gaulty told police later that while he was driving on Nassau Street around 10:30, he smelled smoke under his hood. He pulled to the curb near Vandewater and asked someone to call the police.

Ptl. Douglas Watson and Ptl. Thomas Michals responded. They attempted to put out the fire with two powder extinguishers from their patrol car but were unable to open the car's hood which had jammed. They had to have help from a Fire Department truck.

Before it was extinguished, the fire had eaten through the dash wall and was burning inside the interior of the car. Police described damage to the 1967 car as extensive. They added that nine times out of ten, such fires are the result of a defective carburetor.

RELEASED TO STOCKADE
 After Forgery Hearing. A Port Dix private was released to the camp's stockade Monday night after a hearing in the Borough's criminal court for allegedly forging and cashing two stolen checks at the University Store. The complainant was Frederick P. Worthington, manager of the U.Store.

Det. Michael D. Hancharik was sent back to the Port Dix stockade, pending action by a Mercer County Grand Jury. He is a resident of Hightstown.

He was picked up by Borough police September 1 on -Continued On Page 20

Mayors' Plan 'Inadequate.'

To the Editor of Town Topics:
It was with a sense of disappointment and anger that I learned of the totally inadequate response which our two Princeton mayors made to the vital matter of human relations in our community.

At a time when action is required on civil rights, our mayors announce a joint borough-township committee restricted to studying the possibility of forming a human rights commission for Princeton. We do not need a study, we need a human rights commission.

The utility of such a commission in Princeton is surely beyond debate. Moreover, model ordinances, guidelines, by-laws, and other information are readily available to the Borough Council and the Township Committee from the Division on Civil Rights of the New Jersey State government. They do not need to delegate the task of assembling information to someone else. It is difficult to believe that an alert local government would have failed to acquire this information from the state and act up on it.

What is perhaps most disheartening is that the recent announcement, timed to coincide with the local election campaigns, is little more than a political ploy. Even the weak step of studying the need for a commission was further diluted by giving the group no deadline for reporting their findings. So when they ask for our votes, the incumbents can boldly declare they are studying the problem. Then, after November, the question of a human rights commission can once again be shelved. Civil rights in Princeton is too important a matter for such shoddy treatment.

Is Wednesday Plan Needed?

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the text of a letter I have sent to the Wednesday Program Council of the Princeton Regional Schools.

EDNA M. HUNTER
100 Bayard Lane

As a parent of three children enrolled in the public school system I regard the Wednesday afternoon proposal with many misgivings. In an earlier communication to the Board of Education I made several queries which remain unanswered: I would like a meaning all free time for pupils K-12 on Wednesdays? Are insurance benefits affected?

Do you intend to change any school hours to compensate for 50 teaching hours per class per week that are being eliminated? A quick glance (particularly at an elementary school schedule) should convince one that even now there is little enough time for the "action" that Princeton parents expect. Why handicap an excellent staff by eroding the time available for education?

Do teachers have a fully free and clear choice, without re-creation or restriction, to teach or tutor or plan independently during Wednesday afternoons? Since a majority of the entire staff did not vote in favor of the closing, has this affected your overall plans?

Although the present funding comes from Federal sources, what will it cost to maintain any continuation of the program next year when the grant is no longer available and the expenses must be paid by the public at large?

What will the inclusion of custodial, cafeteria, and secretarial staff in the program (as outlined in the proposals) do to costs incurred? Will their contributions warrant such expenditure?

What will happen to classes where meetings, reports, and planning will take teachers out of classes for up to two days each week? Will this not adversely affect the pupil-teacher relationship which is the basis of motivation and learning?

If this program is necessary and valuable, why can't it be scheduled in out-of-school time with the funding money used to reimburse staff who want or need to participate?

Editor's Note: For results of the questionnaire on this subject sent to parents, see article in "Topics of the Town."

Approve Bond Issue.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I would like to go on record as being in favor of the bond issue which is to be voted on November 5, 1958, the proceeds from which will support New Jersey transportation, education, and housing. I sincerely hope the citizens of New Jersey will give approval to this.

BETH M. CHENIECK
(Mrs. A. G. Chenieck)
365 Riverside Drive

For Floyd and Hartmann.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Jim Floyd and Tom Hartmann have again demonstrated their keen insight into the complex problems facing Princeton Township. They have provided voters with an analysis of the way in which the Township Committee fumbled, and (and undoubtedly continue to fumble unless we as voters insist on new leadership by Floyd and Hartmann.)

How has the Township Committee failed? A new distribution center for mail handling has been needed and discussed for nine years or more. When faced with the question of locating an appropriate site, the Township Committee rather blithely suggested that this assembly line, factory-type operation be placed in our Research and Education Park! A potential revenue source to underwrite Township operations was turned away!

Not only is this a waste of revenue to the Township, but this assembly-line, freight-distribution, warehouse operation would completely undermine the character of the current zoning for Research Park. Is this short-range, careless, off-the-cuff type of thinking what Princeton demands?

I think we need Jim Floyd and Tom Hartmann to add fresh insights into our Township Committee. We need these men to help develop all the options available for a new mail distribution center. If we are to keep the best in Princeton, we must elect Floyd and Hartmann to Township Committee on November 5.

Witherspoon Street. Shortly before he was eating in a Princeton restaurant when the waitress remembered him as having eaten there on a previous occasion and left without paying his bill. When he did the same thing again, she called the police.

An investigation by police revealed that Hancher had been living on the university campus during the summer, posing as a student. The police also discovered that he was AWOL and had been passing stolen checks in town which he had taken from slumlord dormitories.

At the time of his arrest, police said he had three stolen checks in his possession. Six checks from one account he had passed totaled $11. They said he was charged with breaking and entering, larceny and forgery. However, Monday's hearing, he was charged only with two counts of forging checks at the U-Store.

15 YEAR OLD CHARGED

With Hashish Use. A 15 year old Township youth who is a student at Princeton High School has been charged with possession of the narcotic drug hashish by the Borough police.

Li Michael Carnevale reported that he arrested the youth on a Borough street at 1:25 last Wednesday afternoon. He said that he found a quantity of hashish in his possession, which he described as a "personal supply."

The youth was formally charged with juvenile delinquency. Petitions were sent by the Borough Justice to Mercer County Juvenile Judge J. Wilton Noden.

Li Carnevale reported that he had been observing the youth in the past. He added the youth had set up a noticeable pattern of behavior in eluding absence from school.

NURSERY FILES SUIT

For Fire Damages. Three 10 ear-old boys and their parents have been named as defendants in a suit filed by Hoad Nurseries of Pennington for damages caused by a fire that destroyed a barn, eight trucks, two sheds and other equipment last March 18.

The suit claims the boys, Kevin Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Douglas, Jr., Ritchie Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Coe Hutchinson, and David Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Jackson, all of Sked Street, negligently caused the fire by playing with a cigarette lighter in the barn. The parents are charged with "permitting and allowing" the children to play with the lighter.

Police said the fire, which caused damage estimated at more than $100,000, was started by the three boys, who were starting and putting out fires in rubbish in the barn. While firemen battled the blaze, the father of one of the boys called police to report that his son was involved in starting the fire. The two other boys were later picked up for questioning.

The suit, filed by Newark attorney Alvin D. Hersch in behalf of Howe, demands a trial by jury.

Lions Seek Names

HEADQUARTERS TO OPEN

For Humphrey-Muskie State Governor Richard J. Hughes, a raffish and refreshingly candid and self-confident will be featured Friday night at the opening of the Mercer County Citizens for Humphrey-Muskie Headquarters at 161 Witherspoon Street. The festivities will begin at 8 p.m.

The group plans a voter-oriented campaign, with door-to-door volunteers and fund-raising cocktail parties, to promote community, county and district Democrats as well as the national candidates.

Dr. Morton Darrow, former Secretary for New Jersey's Department of Conservation and Economic Development, has been elected chairman of the organization.

Dr. Darrow, who lives at 137 Hickory Court, was executive director of the state's Volunteers for Stevenson in 1952 and joined the Citizens for Meyer in a similar role the following year. He plans newspaper ads, radio spots, campaign literature and campaign speeches to promote the national ticket.

To support the County Headquarters, which is opening several weeks later than the Republican campaign center due to a shortage of funds, the Humphrey-Muskie forces plan bake sales and fund-raising drives. Donations to the bake sales may be arranged through Mrs. Bryce S. Chase, 799 105th Financial contributions may be mailed directly to the Headquarters.

Volunteers are asked to call Mrs. Chase in West Windsor, or L. Nye Stevens, 921 1491 in Princeton.

REMEMBER THE PUEBLO, says a bumper sticker. In replying to this week's question as to whether the U.S. should accede to North Korea's demand for a public apology, George Hunt (right), president of the First Aid Squad, says no. Pat McManimon feels if we were in Korean waters, the government should own up to it. If not, "then we should stick to our guns." (Staff Photo)

Question Of The Week

Question: Repeatedly, North Korea says it will not free the 82 crewmen of the Pueblo until the U.S. makes a formal apology for violating Korean waters. Should we?

Where asked: Palmer Square

George Hunt, 37 Wiggins Street, appraiser and president of the Princeton First Aid Squad: No, I don't. I feel our government has indicated to us that we were not in violation of their waters. If that's what they say, I think we should go along with it and not apologize.
If we can't trust the people whom we have elected then we are in pretty bad shape.

Pat McManimon, 30 Erdman Avenue, 1st Lt. Cadet Corps of the First Aid Squad, and PHS student: If we were in their territorial waters, then I think we should apologize. If we weren't, then I don't think we should just as a matter of principle. If we were wrong, we should admit it, if we are right we should stick to our guns. It's up to the government; we have no way of knowing if we actually were in their waters or not.

Marsden Peabody, 289 Jefferson Road, post office employee: I feel we should have gone in and taken the boat.
I've felt that way all along.
Why this country let their men down like that when they should have backed them I don't know. It's a touchy question. I don't think North Korea needs an apology and I don't think we should apologize. We should go in there after them.
I can't see all this stuff and this country won't do anything about it. If we keep letting them do just what they want that's what they'll keep doing.

Robert Hubbard, 150 Valley Road, PHS junior: No, I don't think so. I think it would prove we were guilty. I don't think the U.S. is ready to apologize and I don't think we should apologize to anybody. Personally, I don't like the actions of North Korea. America is a lot bigger and it could take them over any time it wanted. Why should we apologize? We didn't start it.

Jeff Fauc, student at Princeton Seminary: Yes, I think the lives of 82 of our men are more important than any self image we may have.

William Rothstein, Jamesburg, retired teacher: It's not as simple a solution as making an apology as what are the implications of an apology.
Does our apology connote we were guilty of invading their waters, and does it mean North Korea will be free to do the same thing again? However, one's first implication is to get the men out.

Bob Kines, Trenton, employee for Institute for Defense Analysis: I don't think we should. We've let a lot of other ships come in our waters.
—Russian trawlers sit off our shore—so why should we cater to them. I think we ought to get the men back somehow but not through any apology.

IF YOU LIKE TOWN TOPICS, the best way to express your appreciation is to mention it to our advertisers.

Mrs. Barbara Rozand, Skill-man, legal secretary: No, I do not. I think it would jeopardize our diplomatic relations with all countries—which are at a pretty low ebb, anyway—if we were to apologize at this time. Basically, I think it would be interpreted as a lack of resolve on our part to see this through.

Basil Medvecky, 18 Vande-voer Avenue, manager of em-banker store: Why should we apologize? We would be acknowledging our guilt if we did. I don't think we should.
No. We were not responsible for what happened over there.
They started the whole fracas.
We were never found guilty of anything. So there's your answer.

Albert Matlock, Trenton, driver for Princeton University Press: No, I don't think so. I don't believe we ever were in their territorial waters. We should never have let those men sit over there so long in the first place; we should have gotten them out long ago.
They're just going to talk and talk and talk. If we knew we were right, we should have taken action. Why did we sit around and let them feel they have the upper hand? The reason I know we didn't enter their territorial waters is that I'm an ex-sailor. In order to change your course, the captain has to give the command.
They are all logged. All you have to do is look in the log book to see your hearing and course.

Now 36, Dr. Bartlett is a native of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, England. He received his bachelor's and doctor's degrees from Kings College, the University of Durham, England, in 1934 and 1936 and served on the faculty at the University of British Columbia before coming to Princeton.

CANDIDATES FOR U. S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES FOURTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

TERMS OF OFFICE, 2 YEARS—SALARY $30,000—VOTE FOR ONE

QUESTION: 1. What changes, if any, would you advocate in federal policies to solve the problems of the cities?
2. What changes, if any, would you advocate in U. S. policy toward Southeast Asia?

FRANK THOMPSON JR., Democrat (Incumbent)

Age 50, Trenton. Educated in the Trenton parochial and public schools; Wake Forest College, North Carolina; Wake Forest Law School. Lawyer; United States Representative, Nineteen years of legislative and related experience as follows: Member, U. S. House of Representatives (1955 to present); Chairman, Special Subcommittee on Labor; Committee on Education and Labor; Committee on House Administration; Joint Committee on the Library; Chairman, National Voters Registration Committee For the 1960 Presidential election; Trustee, John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts; Member, Franklin D. Roosevelt Memorial Commission; Member, New Jersey General Assembly, 1949-1954; Minority leader, 1954.

1. "Changes in Federal policies offer no total solution to the problems of the cities. Solution requires a commitment of our national will, not merely a commitment of Federal monies. Our free society can countenance neither violence and disorders in our cities, nor the tragedy of ghetto poverty." "I believe the Federal role in confronting these problems can be improved. Present Federal programs designed to aid those in our cities should be more fully funded, particularly education, housing, poverty and manpower programs. I advocate upgrading and making more effective our law enforcement agencies. No program will be truly successful until the residents of our inner cities are as physically secure as the residents of our suburbs. I urge more effort to involve the private sector of our economy in the solution of the cities' problems. The Federal government cannot solve these problems alone; we must enlist the wealth and energy of business and labor in this effort."

2. "Although this question does not specifically mention United States policy in South Vietnam, any discussion of Southeast Asia must begin with that policy. I believe our national interest requires termination of our present involvement in South Vietnam. As an effort to stimulate progress at the Paris Peace Talks, I favor a halt in United States bombing of North Vietnam."

With respect to our general policy in Southeast Asia, The United States must stand ready to offer effective economic and technical assistance to legitimate governments in Southeast Asia. This assistance should be designed to help these governments maintain their independence and develop into mature and stable nations. But it must always be offered with the clear understanding that these governments must themselves assume the full responsibility for their own destinies. We should not make available in Southeast Asia American military forces without a positive showing that our vital national interests are seriously threatened. We must learn to distinguish between genuine internal political struggles, and aggression mounted and controlled by a foreign power.

We should make every honorable effort to help resolve conflict in Southeast Asia by political rather than military means. Finally, we must rid ourselves of the delusion that our national security demands that every nation in Southeast Asia embrace a political and economic system modeled after ours.

JOSEPH FRANK, Socialist Labor

Age 40, Trenton. Master of Science in Mechanical Engineering. Mechanical Engineer. Political Science Training. Auspices of SLP.

1. "The urban problems currently existing (indeed all of this country's problems) stem from a basic, underlying contradiction between our existing political and economic institutions on the one hand and our current mode of production on the other. In this country today, (indeed throughout the world) production is carried on for the private profit of the few owners of the land and industries. This implies a legalized robbery of the useful producers, promoting antagonisms between workers and capitalists. Indeed, capitalism fosters inter-fraternal strife between workers themselves, making them compete and demean themselves for available jobs. This legalized robbery, while justified prior to complete industrialization of a society, becomes anti-social after industrialization. This is because industrialization can now assure a society of affluence and no longer needs to outrageously reward the industrialist with wealth robbed from the worker. By the way, this legalized robbery is tremendous, encompassing the labor power and moneys involved for capitalism's nonproductive costs of doing business."

2. "Current U. S. policy in S. E. Asia stems from a compelling need to assure to itself the

SYDNEY S. SOUTER, Republican

Age 37, Lawrence Twp. Primary education received in the High Bridge and Annandale Schools in Hunterdon County. Secondary education received at Lawrenceville School. Undergraduate degree (B.A.) and Law degree (LL.B.) received from Yale University. Attorney at Law, Firm of Souter and Scozzori, 44 Nassau Street, Princeton, N. J.; former Municipal Judge, Montgomery Township; Borough attorney for Pennington, N. J.

1. "Recent history makes it clear that we must make a major effort to solve our current urban crisis. Not only urban renewal, but human renewal programs must be undertaken to provide means by which people can be helped and can help themselves."

"The private sector of the economy must be involved through incentive programs, as well as all levels of government. The federal government must find a better way to reach the people who need help the most; by providing programs tailored to the needs to be met; to provide education and job training; and involve the recipients in an effort to help themselves."

2. "Every effort should be made to encourage the present peace talks. Our emphasis in Vietnam and the rest of Southeast Asia must be directed to ending the war and winning the peace."

"This cannot be accomplished by unilateral withdrawal. Regardless of the questions raised, we are now in Viet Nam and unilateral withdrawal would subject the South Vietnamese to untold terror and destruction."

"We must require the South Vietnamese to stabilize their own economy, to replace our military units with their own, and to care for their own people. In the rest of Southeast Asia, we must support freedom-loving people from aggression, but we cannot be expected to fight their own wars for them while they ignore the problems which cause their people to be receptive to Communism."

future markets and raw materials of that area. Markets are needed in which to dispose of the commodities (legally robbed from the workers of U.S.A.) and convert it into monetary wealth.

Current U. S. policy in S. E. Asia is dominated by a compelling need to prevent hot commercial competition in that area of the world, hence the policy of freezing out Red China. In short, U. S. policy in S. E. Asia is committed to securing the economic and hence military and political control of that area.

In fact this hot war is but a manifestation of the overriding cold war between the Eastern and Western Blocs of Nations for economic control of the world."

CANDIDATES FOR MERCER COUNTY BOARD OF CHOSEN FREEHOLDERS

TERM OF OFFICE, 3 YEARS — SALARY $9,000 — VOTE FOR 2

QUESTIONS: Do you feel there is need of county government action in the field of transportation? Please explain.

CHARLES E. FARRINGTON, Democrat

Age 54, 82 Overbrook Drive, Princeton. Graduated Trenton High School, Rider College, Rutgers University Law School. Occupation: Lawyer. Member of New Jersey Legislature, 10 years; Chairman of: Assembly Appropriations Committee, Commission to Study the Arts in New Jersey; Trenton Musical Association; Vice-Chairman of New Jersey Commercial Code Study Commission; Youth Study Commission, Trenton State College Board of Trustees; President of West Mercer Democratic Club, Hopewell Township, Bobe Ruth League; Vice-President at Mercer County Mental Health Association.

Yes. When private enterprise cannot or does not provide a necessary public service, it is the obligation of government to become involved in whole or in part. County government is the most practical level of government for action in the areas of local bus transportation, smaller connecting airports, and, of course, intra-county highway systems. Mercer County's active involvement in these areas has been most fortunate for its residents. The problem is costs. What is needed is a greater financial contribution by the State, particularly in County highway construction and bus system acquisition and maintenance.

ARTHUR R. SYPEK, Democrat (Incumbent)

Age 51, 250 Lawrenceville Road, Trenton. Graduated Trenton Central High School, Rider College, post graduate work at Rutgers and Temple Universities. Occupation: real estate and insurance agent, tax accountant, currently Freeholder. First Manager, Leo J. Rogers Homes, Farmer Treasurer, Trenton Housing Authority; Vice-President, New Jersey Association of Chosen Freeholders; President, Regional Conference of Elected Officials; New Jersey Commuter Advisory Committee; New Jersey Inter-departmental Safety Commission; National Association of Counties.

Yes. Mercer County takes active leadership toward meeting virtually all aspects of the community's transportation needs — air, highway, water and public transit.

Recently Mercer County took active steps to maintain bus transportation in the community, through appointment of the Mercer County Improvement Authority, and empowering the authority to take emergency steps to keep the buses running. Presently, with approval of the Freeholders, the Authority is negotiating for acquisition of Capital Transit. It is believed that this action will make it possible, not only to keep present service, but to build a bus transportation system that will support and stimulate Mercer County's continued economic growth and prosperity.

EUGENE E. KALINOWSKI, Republican

Age 42, 50 Heil Ave., Trenton. Graduated Trenton Central High School. Secretary-Treasurer, Kolino Products, Member Trenton Zoning Board of Adjustment, North Trenton American Legion Post No. 50, Holy Cross Catholic War Veterans; Post President Polish Falcons No. 59.

The Democrat majority, without conferring with their colleagues, have foisted an all-Democrat Improvement (transit) Authority on the people of Mercer. The County is now in the position where they have no alternative but to submit to a continuance of mismanagement by the same people that put Trenton street transportation in its present deplorable state. We can only hope that the Authority doesn't have to pay top dollar for an outmoded bus system. I will try to prevent further wastage of tax dollars by keeping in constant communication with the Improvement Authority.

PETER H. ROSSI, Republican

Age 57, 5 Whittaker Ave. Graduated Trenton Central High School, Occupation: Staff Assistant, Industrial Relations Department for C F & I Steel Corporation, Post Secretary, Kent A.A., Italian American Sportsman Club; Board Member U.S.O.; Red Cross Drives, D.V.U.F. Drive.

The time has come to finalize the future of the Mercer County Airport. The Democrats formed the Improvement Authority to develop the Airport and to try to eliminate spiralling losses. No action has been taken, and the Authority has become mired in the bus crisis. The Democrat leadership has been sitting on these transportation problems until they have become very serious. The Authority must undertake immediate study of the Airport situation. When elected Freeholder, I shall insist on answers to every facet of the Airport situation.

WEST WINDSOR TOWNSHIP CANDIDATES FOR TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE

TERM OF OFFICE, 3 YEARS — SALARY $1000 — VOTE FOR TWO

QUESTION: What can the Township Committee do to ensure a balanced, varied community in relation to housing and other areas?

Democrats: No Candidates

ELI S. FIRTH, Republican (Incumbent)

Age 49, 11 Piedmont Drive, Cranbury. Educated Drexel Institute of Technology, Mechanical Engineering Diploma; California Institute of Technology, Aeronautical Engineering — Navy School, Manager Plant Engineering, RCA Astro Electronics Division. Member West Windsor Township Committee, West Windsor Planning Board, West Windsor Zoning Board of Adjustment.

West Windsor Township has maintained a balanced community through the coordinated efforts of the Planning, Zoning, Industrial and Township Committees.

Facilities, such as sewer and water, are required to attract industry. Elizabethtown Water Company now provides adequate water supply. Sewer studies for a regional plant are in progress. Also, municipal costs in relationship to growth must be controlled for fiscal responsibility.

West Windsor is an attractive, balanced community and we hope to keep it that way.

MALCOLM B. ROSZEL, Republican (Incumbent)

Age 48, Village Road East, Princeton Junction. Educated Princeton High School, Trenton State College, B.S.; Rutgers University, Graduate Work. Vice-President of Soles, L. C. Bowers and Sons, Inc.; Trustee Regional Development Council; Vice-Chairman Millstone-Stony Brook Sewerage Group; Director New Jersey Conference of Mayors; Member West Windsor Citizens Advisory Group for Education, West Windsor Zoning Board of Adjustment, West Windsor Planning Board, West Windsor Board of Education, West Windsor Township Committee.

We have a well balanced community between industry and residential development. This has been achieved by good zoning and planning. We must encourage industrial growth to keep pace with the increased housing. Industry needs adequate sewer and water facilities. We now have adequate water available. Recently we joined with five other municipalities to construct a regional sewerage treatment plant. These services will encourage industry to locate here and help to balance our growth.

PUBLIC QUESTION (condensed)

YES
NO

SHALL THE TOWNSHIP OF WEST WINDSOR PERMIT THE TRANSFER FOR PENSION PURPOSES, OF ITS POLICE EMPLOYEES FROM PUBLIC EMPLOYEES RETIREMENT SYSTEM TO POLICE AND FIREMAN RETIREMENT SYSTEM?

SHALL THE TOWNSHIP OF WEST WINDSOR ADOPT THE PROVISIONS OF THE POLICE AND FIREMAN RETIREMENT SYSTEM OF NEW JERSEY.

EXPLANATION:

A majority of Yes votes will allow West Windsor's new police force to belong to the specialized pension plan for police and firemen which provides higher benefits to survivors and an earlier retirement than the present pension plan.

PRINCETON BOROUGH CANDIDATES FOR BOROUGH COUNCIL

TERM OF OFFICE, 3 YEARS — NO SALARY — VOTE FOR TWO

QUESTION: Which municipal health problems need immediate attention and what approaches to these problems do you suggest?

Anti-pollution planning for both air and water must be made the immediate responsibility of a committee. Such planning must be both technically competent and regionally based. Not even the critical problem of illegal drugs can be permitted to delay action on pollution control. Full community cooperation in sex education for the young and zoning enforcement are additional public health areas requiring continued attention.

There are two health problems which need immediate attention: 1. Combating misuse of drugs by young people. I suggest a positive educational program in the community detailing the known effects and potential dangers involved. 2. All housing must meet the Borough's health standards. To help home owners I recommend: a. A "tax moratorium" after improvements are made and remaining in effect for several years to minimize increased taxes. b. A Community Design Center making voluntary professional advice available to those required to improve their property.

Princeton's most pressing health problems are environmental pollution and maintenance of high health standards in rental housing. Princeton Borough must continue and broaden support of the regional approach to elimination of water pollution; rigorously implement by local action recently enacted State clean air standards; and adopt ordinances to combat pollution of streets, parks, and public lands. Finally, the present rental housing inspection program should be vigorously continued and intensified to achieve high public health standards.

Age 46, 64 Harris Road. Educated Trenton Public Schools; West Virginia State College, Cum Laude; Rider College and Rutgers, extension courses in Industrial Management. General Foreman of the Manufacturing Section of Stokes Molded Products Division of ESB Inc. Former Member of Board of Princeton Association for Human Rights, Secretary for Troop Committee of Scout Troop 43.

Any activity in the field of public health that is not in compliance with the minimum New Jersey standards for performance of local health districts needs immediate attention. The local problem that must be dealt with is that of inspection for and abatement of violations of health laws regarding housing.

I strongly endorse the implementation of a unified health service for our two Princeton communities. The additional state finances that would be realized would do much to enable both Princetons to strengthen their public health services.

THOMAS B. HARTMANN, Democrat

Age 46, 178 Moore Street. Educated Somerville, New Jersey, Public Schools; Phillips Academy; Princeton University, A.B. in Politics; University of Delaware, Graduate Work in Political Science. Special Assistant for Urban Programs, Livingston College and the Urban Studies Center, Rutgers, The State University. Founding Group of Princeton Youth Center; Board Member Youth Associates; Executive Committee Friends of Public Education in Princeton.

In an era of increasing demand for services and rising tax rates, it is essential that Princeton Township take advantage of all state and federal programs for which it could qualify. Unification of the Borough and Township health boards as recommended in the Dilley and other reports in order to meet the state minimum health district of 25,000 is an essential step. An adequately financed health office would be able to meet housing inspection requirements and other problems in health services.

BURTON PESKIN, Republican (Incumbent)

Age 47, 79 Meadowbrook Drive. Educated West Virginia University; Ohio State University; Rutgers University. Attorney. Member Princeton Township Committee 1965-68, Association of the Arts of New Jersey. Former Trustee Mercer County Bar Association, Chairman Lawyers Division D.V.U.F., Charter Member Mercer County Legal Aid Panel.

This question presupposes that there are present serious municipal health problems which is simply not the fact. The most important project presently being undertaken by the Health Department is the extension of the sanitary sewer system with emphasis on areas where such a changeover is most needed, and a continuation of this program is most worthwhile. Another important task is the enforcement of the new ordinance involving inspection of rental housing units.

CARL C. SCHAFER, JR., Republican (Incumbent)

Age 45, 364 Jefferson Road. Educated Princeton Public Schools; Tufts University, A.B. in Economics; U. S. Naval Schools; Rider College, M.A. in Business Education. Coordinator of Distributive Education, Lawrence High School. Princeton Township Committee, 1963-68; Princeton Township Planning Board; Trustee Princeton Public Library, Princeton Hospital.

The only situation in Princeton Township which might be broadly interpreted as a health problem would be a malfunctioning private septic system. As these situations occur, recommendations of the Board of Health are received and acted upon by the Township Committee. Implementation of our Sewer Master Plan has proceeded at a rapid pace since its inauguration in 1960-61. A regional approach has recently been undertaken for more efficient treatment in the area.

COLGATE HERE SATURDAY
Tigers Are Ready to Run
The top ground game in the U. S. will be on view Saturday in Palmer Stadium when Princeton meets Colgate in the fourth game on its 1968 football schedule. Kickoff is at 2 p.m.

In their first three outings this fall, the Tigers have averaged 382 yards rushing, highest of any major college in the country and renewed indication to doubling Thomases in the hinterlands that the single wing may be here to stay. What happened at Hanover last week was a demonstration of possession-type football at its best, as Princeton recorded a 34-7 triumph over Dartmouth by marching 60, 40, 48 and then 99 yards and two feet for its five touchdowns.

Although the steadily improving blocking by the veteran offensive line is a major factor, the real note of authority in the attack has been achieved by an experiment that not every coaching staff would be willing to undertake. Dick Bracken, captain and the year regular at tailback, has been switched to a reserve role to move that as nearly as memory serves is unprecedented in the last three or four decades of Princeton football.

If Bracken needed compensation for his selflessness, he had it around 4 p.m. Saturday as his team trotted off sun-drenched Memorial Field set in the Han-

Attack Has Balance. With Scott MacBean and sophomore Brian McCullough alternating at tailback, and Ellis Moore

Intriguingly, a solid football. Bracken's MacBean pass this fall has switch does not, of course, remove him completely from the tailback assignment, but it vastly increases the number of plays in which the numerical talents of MacBean and McCullough can be employed.

Against Dartmouth, this pair ran for a combined total of 281 yards, passed for 61 more, seives out of the game when they feel the need for a brief rest. The resultant shuttle system (which was also in effect in a somewhat lesser degree for Moore and Bracken) is not devised to bring cheer and comfort to a wearying defensive line wearing opposition colors.

Bracken will, of course, be inserted at either the three or the four back slot, thus allowing him to pass from either position and increasing the effectiveness of the attack. He completed both his tosses Saturday, one from each backfield berth, and when he threw as a tailback it was to McCullough at tailback.

Colgate Improving. Already the victor in as many games (two) this fall as it won all last season, Colgate will present a considerably better team Saturday than the one which lost in Palmer Stadium a year ago. 28-0. Operating under Neil Wheelwright, the defensive coach for a number of seasons, the Red Raiders opened with a 28-0 conquest of Boston University and last week, upset Holy Cross 14-6. Losses by 17-0 to Cornell and 49-14 to Yale were sandwiched in between.

QUICK LOOK AT COLGATE

OFFENSE: Directed by veteran quarterback Ron Burton, a roll-out scrambler. Other holdover lettermen combine with him to make it stronger than 1967 attack.

DEFENSE: Has not been consistently impressive and figures to be overmanned by Tiger running game, particularly on plays to the outside.

CHIEF ASSET: Burton's quarter-backing on a day when he is right.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Overall lack of depth, particularly on defense.

TYPE OF ATTACK: T with I and wing variations.

The visitors have a veteran quarterback in Ron Burton, who likes to roll out and run. Fullback Gene Detweiler and halfback Al Pearman and end Klump are all threats as ball carriers; Pearman and end Dean Taylor are Burton's principal targets on his frequent passes.

Having pointed for the Dartmouth game since the season began, Princeton will have to be good enough to take its next opponent in stride. This it should be able to do without running into serious difficulty — although the 1866 Tigers, who were eventually good enough to tie for the Ivy title with Dartmouth and Harvard were sandbagged by Colgate, 7 to 0.

The following week, the Penn game at Franklin Field should have an unusual angle going for it. A 108 upset victory over it. —Continued on Next Page Cornell last week, the Quakers are favored to defeat Lehigh Saturday and defeat Lehigh Princeton unbeaten. Such an achievement on Penn's part has not had a parallel in well over a decade.

DARTMOUTH EXTRA THIN

But Tigers Were Unstoppable. Not since his first season at Hanover 13 years ago has Bob Blackman had a losing record. It may happen again in 1968 — the back-to-back defeats his team has suffered at the hands of Holy Cross and Princeton are the first pair of successive setbacks since 1963, and he has a handful of problems to solve.

Injuries have hurt — Bob Mlakar, the best running back broke his leg in the Holy Cross game, and two starting defensive linemen were also out of action against Princeton. But worse than that, for the first time in the current decade, the Green is without a take-charge quarterback as it goes with sophomore Jim Chay in place of the discarded senior, Bill Koenig.

RUNNING FOR DAYLIGHT: Sophomore tailback Brian McCullough (43) galloped 144 yards against Dartmouth and scored twice. Tiger quarterback Dan White (23) has removed one Indian defender from action, while wingback Jim Koloski (far right) is leading the charge on another. Bob MacBean (Pilot)

On top of that, the Indians' personnel is small. It rarely bugged the Tigers' middle three linemen — Bob Hew's Buck Sandler and Tim McCann — while Tiger backs ran for steady gains behind the likes of 245-lb. tackle Dave Hunt and 225-lb. Bob Slivinski, the center whose overall play won him the game ball.

The day's pattern was etched the first time Princeton came into possession, after holding the home team for downs on its 24. The Tigers rolled 60 yards in 14 plays, 11 on the ground and the third of the three passes going from MacBean to end Mike Garton for the TD. It was the fake stunt off tackle and the jump throw to the receiver anchored just inside the end zone.

A 73-yard runback of the ensuing kickoff, followed by a 25-yard pitchout play around right end, got Dartmouth even in a hurry. Two years ago, the Tigers had scored first at Hanover, only to be buried, 31-13, but these Princetonnians were not about to lose control of the action.

They promptly drove 80 yards in 13 plays, again running the ball 11 times, and on this series, switching Bracken to fullback for the first time. MacBean and McCullough were now alternating at tailback, and the power was almost as jaw-dropping as the New Hamp three autumn foliage. It was MacBean who took the ball in on a fourth and one situation.

Before the period ended, three plays sufficed to erase 46 yards and the 21 points Princeton had scored in less than 15 minutes were more than any Tiger team had hung on the board against Dartmouth in the past three years. McCullough scored this time, on a seven-yard burst around left end. The Green then shut down on further scoring in the half aided by an end-zone interception of a pass that McCullough threw rather inadvertently, but Princeton retaliated by halting a deep thrust that reached its two-yard line. The Tigers got their fourth TD at 3:31 of the third quarter on a 73-yard march that again was marked by 11 running plays and two passes. The resultant score was McCullough's third of the day — a three-yard shot around the right flank.

In the closing minutes of the contest, Princeton sloped a drive less than a yard away from its goal line and proceeded to unfold a football rarity — a scoring drive that covered 99 yards. It is a rarity — in both college and pro ball — because over that distance enough of a mistake almost invariably occurs to force the attacking team to yield possession.

In the series, the longest gain is nine yards and the greatest single advance came when the Indians were tagged 15 yards for unnecessary roughness. So authoritative was the running game that only a single pass was called — wingback Jim Koloski, MacBean, McCullough and Bracken all carrying, with the Tiger captain going over from two yards out.

TRENTON HERE SATURDAY
Rivalry Diminished. Faced with having to take on three tough opponents in a row at the outset of the '68 campaign, the Princeton High School football team has managed to win only one, and it could use a breather.

If there is such a thing as a "breather," the Little Tigers will be on the receiving end this Saturday morning when Trenton High School will invade Harris Field for an 11 a.m. contest. Not too many years ago, this was perhaps THE game for PHS. The rivalry between the two was spirited.

Now some of the old spirit has been lost because of the tailspin in the football fortunes of THIS the last three years. Over its past 18 games, a span that stretches now into the third year, the Tornadoes have yet to win one. In its two games this season, PHS has lost to St. Anthony's and last week was buried, 50-0, by Paterson.

No doubt the visitors would like to atone for the past two humiliations administered by the Little Tigers (50-7 in '67 and 61-0 in '68) but it seems that coach Frank Capraro faces another long season. Capraro is starting his second year as head coach.

Arcaro Good, Taylor Better. His passing was sharp, particularly early in the game to Dave Drake, his running was hard and effective, considering he carried the ball on at least half the plays, but Saturday

ARCARO INTO THE MIDDLE: A familiar scene Saturday in the Perth Amboy game was tailback Nick Arcaro carrying the ball into the Panther line for gains. In the first half, Nick carried 13 times for 51 yards and completed 7 of 12 passes with one intercepted. He also was a standout defender.

Tony Arcaro and his teammates, who, collectively, played just as well, were up against one of the stronger teams in the state, led by one of the best quarterbacks in the state. The result: Perth Amboy had little difficulty in defeating the Little Tigers here, 26-7.

"They're just too strong for us," said PHS coach Dick Wood after the game. "Taylor did it when he had to," he added, referring to Perth Amboy's gifted quarterback, Brian Taylor, who brought his team back from an early 7-0 deficit to a 14-7 halftime lead.

$1,749*

What's the catch? There isn't any. $1749* is the suggested retail price of the port of entry for the VW sedan.

The price includes the Federal excise tax and import duty.

It also includes the built-in heater/defroster, windshield washer, electric windshield wipers, outside rearview mirror, padded dash, front seat headrests, and seat belts front and back.

Not to mention the new electric rear-window defogger and the new ignition/steering lock. (When the key is removed, the steering wheel is locked in place.)

It's the price of the real thing, not a stripped-down economy model.

What else do you have to pay?

The charge for transporting the car from the port of entry. The dealer delivery charge. And local sales tax.

There is one optional that makes a lot of sense. The automatic stick shift. It eliminates the clutch pedal.

Well, that's it.

Unless, of course, you count the cost of gas and oil it takes you to get here in your present car.

ports to his legs and in quarterback Dave Drake in the open for the six-pointer with 8:36 remaining. Gartner booted the PAT.

Perth Amboy came right back, marching 82 yards in eight plays, the big gainers all the handwork of Taylor. He tossed 23 yards to Hal Brown for the score with 4:34 to go in the quarter. A 23-yard pass by Taylor and a 24-yard run after his receivers were covered were the big plays.

In fact, Taylor's tucking the ball in and running after he had gone back to pass was Perth Amboy's most effective weapon. Panther coach Bill Gatyas confirmed this after the game when he told Wood, "The best play we have is when Taylor gets trapped and has to run."

In gaining 129 yards in 12 carries in the first half, Taylor had one run of 42 yards and another for 36. "He's not fast but he's deceptive," commented Wood. "Really, you can't appreciate what he does until you see it in the films."

Perth Amboy's second score came on a 25-yard reverse by Jim Brown which caught the PHS defense looking. A 46-yard pass, Taylor to Aaron Jackson, had carried the Panthers to the 30.

Two More in 4th Period. After a scoreless third period, Perth Amboy scored twice in the last 12 minutes of play. The third was a one-yard plunge by Taylor and the last a 27-yard interception of an Arcaro pass by Tyrone Underwood, which came on the last play of the game.

Despite the score, PHS over all played well. "We played better than we did against Hamilton," said Wood. "They were just too much for us."

In addition, Taylor had a lot of help. Jim Brown was a consistent gainer on the ground for Perth Amboy, so much so that he prevented the Little Tigers from keying on Taylor. Taylor's receivers were covered well on many occasions, particularly by Dick Van Zandt and Arcaro, but when they were open, they caught the ball.

"We need to work on our passing," Wood said after the game. "We don't have enough good receivers. Gilroy and Rossi were both in there today and I'm going to use them some more."

Jim Gilroy is a senior and a backup for Arcaro. The potential of Luciano Rossi, a 6-1, 180-pound sophomore, is exciting to contemplate. An end on defense, Rossi just missed connecting with Bob

 Kennedy on the long bomb near the end of the game.

As it was, Arcero had his best day passing, hitting back four times in the first half for Princeton's most consistent play in the air. He worked for a while, but Perh Amboy nick-ed it up," said Wood. When Princeton started to find running room off tackle, Perh
 Amboy inserted 310 lb. tackle
 Bruce Stephens into the line and he didn't have to do much more than stand there to close up any hole.

It was Perh Amboy's ability to compensate for any weakness that PHS found that was one of the reasons why, in Wood's opinion, it was able to win so convincingly.

It was the last meeting between the two schools. Next year, PHS will pick up Linden and also a new school from the Mid-west Township area.

HUN WIN SQUEAKER

PLAY AT HAMMONTON Saturday, The Hun School football team will try to make it three in a row Saturday when it travels to Hammonton for a 2
 p.m. contest with newcomer
 St. Joseph's.

St. Joseph's was a last minute replacement to Germantown Friends, a Penn-Jersey League member which was forced to drop the sport this fall because of injuries and personnel problems. In its first two outings, St. Joe defeated Allentown 6-0, and led to Hightstown, 21-0. The game will not be a league contest.

A rout that ended as a squeaker sums up Hun's 14-13 victory here Saturday over Perkiomen.

Hun thoroughly dominated the play in the first half, as quarterback Mike Maguire moved the team well. Its first scoring came on a 25-yard pass from Maguire to end Don Silverman, Silverman carrying it in the last 10 yards. Fresh man Alan Chalfiuk kicked the extra point.

After halfback Steve Peters had scored Hun's second TD
 on a third and goal situation and Chalfiuk again converted, Hun carried a 14-0 lead into the locker room and seemed to be in complete control.

The second half, however, belonged to Perkiomen. There were a number of reasons for the turnaround. Silverman hurt his shoulder and was forced to sit out both Perkiomen scores, and, overriding all, the running of 260 pound fullback Richard Bucher.

Hun coach Hawley Waterman reported that in the first quarter, Bucher was well rested and he went to work again the Hun line. He scored Perkimen's first touchdown on a plunge from the three and then ran over the PAT. The tally was set up by a poor punt, and Perkiomen put a big rush on St. Donald. He was forced to rush his kick and the ball went off the side of his foot.

A short roll-out pass that ultimately carried 40 yards when the receiver got by the defending end set up the victors' second TD. On a fourth and three, Bucher rammed over.

Bucher was called on to try to get the equalizer. He took a handoff from quarterback Mike Zietzer and headed off tackle into the Hun line. The hall was jarred loose by Bill Dennis, a linebacker, and he took it to Zietzer pounced on the loose ball.

"The first half was too easy," said Waterman. "Our boys were tired in the second half and we had some la-pases." Nonetheless, it ended as a Hun win, its first in the league play. "We'll take them any way we can get them," quipped Waterman.

MONTECLAIR NEXT Foe
 For Twelve-Blessed PDS. An unsettling similarity with last year's losing (2-6) season is beginning to appear as the fall progresses for the Princeton Day School football team, which last its second game Saturday, 4-0-6, to Chestnut Hill School.

Last year, after opening losses to Hun and Chestnut Hill, the Panthers traveled to Montclair School, and dropped a 21-7 decision for their third defeat. The script will be the same this Saturday with a 2 p.m. kickoff at Montclair, but if the Blue and White can come up with a better effort, it may be able to write a happier end ing.

Certainly more equal in ability to PDS, than the highly polished Chestnut Hill squad, which could have named its own score Saturday, Montclair owns a 2-2 record, with victories over two future Panther opponents, MacArthur Military, 21-0, and St. Bernards, 25-6. It has lost to Kings School (Con-nellicut) and 32-0 to Morris-Prep, another PDS opponent.
 Coach Don Barren gives his charges a good chance of up-ending Montclair, provided they can bounce back both physically and mentally from CRICHTON ADAMS: Running strength for the PDS Panthers.

the beating administered by Chestnut Hill. "The squad is pretty far down after the loss," Barren commented, "and they'll have to work hard to get up again." In addition, a number of players are nursing sprained ankles, and halfback Crichton Adams due to a hip injury may or may not be ready.

The Blue and White received several bumps and bruises from the hard-hitting Chestnut Hill eleven, which rolled to two first quarter scores and put the game out of reach at 27-0 with two more before the contest was half over. PDS's play was sluggish during most of the first half, and the victors' single-wing attack moved smoothly, especially the wing back reverse. The ground game went so well, they found no need to pass.

After the intermission, the Panthers brought increased vigor into the game, but this didn't prevent Chestnut Hill from running the kickoff back for six more points, and increasing its lead to 30-0.

The Panthers' one bright spot of the afternoon came later in the third period on a 65-yard end sweep by Kirk Moore, which brought their only score.
 Chestnut Hill retaliated by again running the ensuing kickoff back for a touchdown to complete its scoring. The fourth quarter was scoreless.

 Barren commented that PDS was able to move fairly well on the ground, but could not make the big play when needed to sustain the drive. The Panthers managed to penetrate to the opposition's 30-yard line on occasion, but suffered from fumbles or dropped passes at the crucial moment.

One of the embarrassing miscues that plagued the Panthers in their opener were not repeated. Barren has found a reliable center for punting situations in Jerry Dunning, the team's placement specialist.
 Unfortunately on extra point and field goal attempts, he can not handle both the centering and kicking.

FUEL OIL WINS SECOND

In Midges League Play, Princeton Fuel Oil Co. and Princeton University Store, both winners in their opening game, met Sunday in Midges Football League competition, with the Fuel Oil Co. posting an 18-0 triumph. In the second game, Matthew Construction blanked Nassau-Conover, 20-0.
 Fuel Oil jumped out to an early 12-0 advantage on a one-yard plunge by Lester Bethea and a 50-yard end sweep by Dave Black. The winners' details will be reported in a later issue. —Continued on Next Page

Houghton Brothers Win

Jack and Ollie Houghton shot a net 119 for 36 holes Saturday and Sunday to win the annual Curtis McGraw Memorial Tournament at Springdale Golf Club. Their 18 hole totals were 59 and 69.

In second place were Mac Morris and Bob Clancy with 66-72-128. Scores were based on better ball of partners with 85% of each player's handicap.

The Houghtons succeed Ross Shrader and Price Smith, last year's McGraw Tournament victors.

fense headed by Danny Coluccio, Craig Robinson, Roe Altman and Peter Barnett held the U-Shore attack in check until midway through the second quarter. Then Fred Wilson, Dan Blum and Bobby King put together a scoring drive with King going over from 15-yards out to cut the Fuel Oil lead to 12-6.

Fuel Oil then put the game on ice with a 59-yard touch-down pass from Coluccio to Ron Campbell. Kevin Smith, Jimmy Brooks and Wray Blattner stood out on defense for the losers.

In the second game Kim Steiner scored 74 yards with the opening kick-off to give Matthews a lead it never relinquished. The rest of the half was scoreless as the Nassau County defensemen Peter Soderman, John McCullough, Ted Brown and Kevin Murphy stymied the Matthews' attack.

After the intermission, however, the explosive Bobby Weisbecker added two more scores for the winners of runs of 36 and 6 yards. John Soderman and Jamie Petrone carried the brunt of the Conover offense, but could not manage a score against the stout defense put up by Ted Baryuch, Daren Perone, Frank Caponi and Dave McNamara.

The U-Shore meets Nassau County Sunday at 1 and Matthews meets Princeton Fuel Oil 2:30 this Sunday.

HAC TOPS DIAL, 9-7

In Touch Football, The Harrison Athletic Club edged Dial Lodge, 9-7, Sunday afternoon in a touch football game held on Pardee Field.

George Packard threw to Rich Viole for HAC's touch-down, and Billy Meeker provided the winning margin when he caught Dial's quarterback in the end zone for a safety. Dial's six-pointer came on a two-yard run by Mark Silverfeld.

Don Hanley and David Hantz officiated.

ROSSO'S NEW LEADER

In Women's Bowling League, Taking advantage of position night, Rosso's Cafe blanketed former front-runner Turney Motor Company, 8-0, last week in the Princeton Women's Bowling League to take over first place.

Rosso's off that big win now has 40 points, three more than second-place Cranbury Bank which topped Mamel in their meeting, 5-3. Turney has dropped to third (36) while Swift's Colonial Dinner—8-0 victor over Homes of Merritt—is fourth with 28 and Mamel fifth with 25.

Other big gainers were Rocky & Sons, 8-0 over Mettler "A" and Tiger 5 which shut out Mettler "B", 8-0.

Swifts fashioned both the high team game of 633 and the high team series of 2456.

Alice Frazzetta of Rocky & Sons had the high single game—198—and Marilyn Silverster the high series, 511, on games of 176-170-165. Other high games: Joyce Thomas, 162; Pat Brown, 175-163; Helen Scott, 175; Ann Pfister, Helen Lowe, Edna Collins, all 169s, and Flo Irvin, 165.

Pete Raymond of Cherry Valley Road, and his rowing cousin, Gary Wright of Seattle, qualified for the finals of the fours without coxswain with a victory Tuesday in the Olympics at Mexico City.

Teaming up with two Harvard oarsmen, Raymond and Wright had been teamed in Sunday's preliminaries, trailing East Germany. Two days later, however, they won their repechage (double elimination) race in the good time of 6:39.70 for 2,000 meters. Training them were entries from Switzerland, France, Rumania and Denmark. A second final is scheduled for Saturday.

AGLE WINS AWARD

For Lloyd Terrace Design. A "Merit Award for Design Excellence" has been presented to Princeton architect Charles K. Agle for the Lloyd Terrace housing project for the elderly on Harrison Street. Dr. Robert C. Weaver, secretary of the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, made the award at the National Convention of American Institute Planners in Pittsburgh last week.

Built to furnish housing and a community center for Boston residents 63 and over living on a limited income, the project contains 50 apartments in one and two-story buildings, constructed of brick and wood. The layout includes a small community room for social activities and another housing coin-operated washers and dryers.

In spite of the difference in grade, walkways on the site were developed so that first floor units (36 out of the 50 total) can be easily reached by wheelchair. All major existing trees were preserved and additional ornamental landscaping with staggered blooming periods planted. Special benches were designed for the sitting area and trash cans collectively concealed in round walled enclosures.

In designing the project, Mr. Agle collaborated with William H. Short as associate architect, George Cushine, landscape architect, Monroe Eber-

The Male Andrews "platform" calls for new efforts to improve the flow of Nassau street traffic and supports any proposal that takes commuter traffic around the Borough rather than through the center of town.

They also call for a Zoning Enforcement Committee, the appointment of a regional planning group that among its many functions will provide for water and air pollution control, and in an effort to improve communication between governing body and the people, the demand publishing of Council agenda topics. They would make themselves available at Borough Hall to the citizens of Princeton at least one evening a week to listen to suggestions for a better life in Princeton. Once again, as in the past Democratic platform "firsts" of housing and recreation, this year's proposals are youthful. I therefore urge "firsts" in leading to better community operation. Democrats Nale and Anough Council on November drew are in my estimation.

STOL PLANE ARRIVES
At Princeton Airport, Princeton Airways, operators of the Princeton Airport on Route 206, has placed into service one of two, 19-passenger STOL aircraft which it will add to its present fleet of five, twin-engine planes.

It has accepted delivery of the second, but this plane will not be placed in service until its interior has been outfitted. Charles Osborn, marketing director for the firm, reported that he expected this would take about three weeks.

Named the Twin Otter and built by DeHavilland Aircraft of Canada, the plane is the first of its kind in this area. It is designated STOL for short take off and landing. "There are two planes in the country at the present time

"THE PLANE WE'VE BEEN LOOKING FOR . . . for a long time" is the way Charles Osborn of Princeton Airways describes this 19-passenger plane, one of two the firm will add to its fleet. Named the Twin Otter, it is designed for short take-offs and landings. Standing next to the plane are the officers of Princeton Airways (from left) Lawrence Tokash, vice-president, Webster B. Todd Jr., president, and Mr. Osborn, marketing director.

that can carry this many passengers and still use the short air runways of small airports," commented Mr. Osborn.

"The Twin Otter is one of them. This is the plane we have been looking for a long time."

Powered by two Pratt and Whitney turbine-powered engines, the Otter can take off in 550 feet and land in 495. Fully loaded, the distances are 950 feet and 800. The runway at Princeton Airport measures 3290 feet.

In comparison, the Twin Beech, an eight-passenger plane, needs twice as much distance to land and take off.

The Otter cruises at 175 miles per hour.

"It will be used primarily on our Washington D.C. flights," said Webster B. Todd, Jr., president of Princeton Airways. He added that when the second plane arrives, it would be available for charter service.

"This plane has everything," he said. "It's much quieter than the Beech, it's larger, more comfortable and it has a lot of baggage room and cargo space. Seating arrangement for the Otter is five rows of three seats abreast with four seats in the rear."

There will be no increase in fares. Information on Princeton Airways flight schedules to Newark, Kennedy and Washington airports, revised October 1, may be obtained by calling the airport at 921-7543.

VIEWERS SEE APOLLO

On RCA-Designed TV System. An on-board TV camera developed at RCA's Astro Electronics Division in Princeton this week made possible the first live television programs ever sent into American homes from an orbiting spacecraft, the Apollo Command Module.

First broadcasts from Apollo 7 came Monday, after Commander Walter Shirra had delayed the transmission for two days. Gunning broadly, the astronauts lettered signs asking for more mail and giving guest-star credits to the "love" Apollo astronauts.

The "space camera," small enough to fit into a cat's glove compartment, weighs less than five pounds, including a wide-angle lens for on-board monitoring of the three Apollo astronauts and a 100-mm telephoto lens for views outside the ship.

Some 30 times lighter and 85 times smaller than standard black and white broadcast cameras, the Apollo unit requires only six watts of power for operation, while conventional units need about 500 watts.

Electronic signal processing systems at Cape Kennedy, Fla., and Corpus Christi, Texas, also developed by RCA's Princeton plant, under contract to NASA and North American Rockwell, provide a TV picture with 390 scanning lines, less clear than broadcast television's 525 lines, but still quite intelligible.

The camera was made possible by the use of miniaturized integrated circuits, the result of two years of intensive work

The RCA Space Center also developed Ranger cameras used aboard Ranger satellites that took the closest photos of the moon's surface yet developed, and cameras on the TIROS, ESSA and Nimbus weather satellites.

PARENTS TO PARTICIPATE

In High School Programs. Three programs have been planned for Princeton High School parents to understand more completely what their children do all day, arranged by the PTA.

Parents of high school seniors will meet Monday, October 28, at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria, to review post-high school alternatives.

Major points covered will be college entrance examinations, application procedures and college admissions deadlines, school opportunities, scholarship information and counseling.

The meeting's format will be a skit featuring a Princeton High School senior seeking college admissions aid, with the high school guidance staff taking all other roles. Director of Guidance George Petrillo arranged the meeting.

The High School's annual Back-to-School Night will begin Monday at 8 p.m. in student homerooms. After receiving a daily schedule, parents will spend ten minutes in each of their child's classes, with refreshments served in the cafeteria during study periods.

The High School has also begun a program of tours of the school building and grounds, to be held at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. every Wednesday. Visits may be arranged by calling a tour coordinator Mrs. William Brown, 924-1950, or Princeton High School, 924-5500.

WOULDN'T YOU LIKE SOMEONE ON THE TOWNSHIP COMMITTEE WORKING FOR YOU?

School Parents:

Does the Township Committee work as hard as it could to keep your property tax stable? You want good education for your children but the cost is high and it all comes out of your rising property tax. HERE'S HOW TOM HARTMANN AND JIM FLOYD COULD WORK FOR YOU. They'd create a commission assigned to actively recruit the right rates to fill up Research Park and hold your tax rate down.

Retired Citizens:

Are you satisfied the Township Committee is working to help you stay in Princeton? High real estate taxes are driving you out of town. TOM HARTMANN AND JIM FLOYD COULD WORK FOR YOU. They'd seek out state programs designed with your problems in mind, and they'd see that middle income housing REALLY is built.

Minorities:

Are you satisfied the Township Committee works to protect your rights? They've just appointed another study group with no deadline to see if we need a Human Rights Commission. TOM HARTMANN AND JIM FLOYD COULD WORK TO PROTECT YOUR RIGHTS NOW. They'd set up a legally empowered Civil Rights Commission to point out your rights and see that you get them. . . soon enough to mean something.

NEW SEASON OPENS

As Reaux Arts Trio Plays. A new season of concerts in Princeton has begun. Series II commenced on Monday evening at McCarter with the Reaux Arts Trio of New York in a performance of piano trios by Beethoven, Brahms and Ravel. The members of the group are Menahem Pressler, piano; Daniel Guleit, violin; and Bernard Greenhouse, violoncello. The program consisted of the Trio in E Major, Op. 1, No. 1 by Beethoven, the Trio in A Minor by Ravel, and The Trio in B Major, Op. 8 by Brahms.

McCarter Theatre, with its large, airy back-draw and stage, provided a welcome change from the draft setting of the past decade. And the playing of the Beaux Arts Trio continued in the excellent artistic tradition of Series I and Series II concert performances. For there is no question as to the abilities of these fine musicians, who through the past several years since forming their chamber music ensemble, have developed a trio sound second to none in the medium of expression they represent.

Mr. Pressler plays with a special finesse. He produces a most remarkable tone with precision and a feeling for shading and phrasing that is immaculate and sure. Mr. Greenhouse produces a rich warm tone from his cello, but he, too, offers a variety of colorful sounds from his instrument that is a pleasure to hear. Only Mr. Guleit appeared a bit lack in intonation and his tone seemed unduly by comparison to that of Mr. Greenhouse's sound, but in general the group produces one of the most balanced sonatas of any in the trio medium today.

The program itself was of remarkable judgment. Both the Beethoven and Brahms scores were extremely early efforts and though there is much beauty in these compositions, they lack the overall inventiveness, development and continuity that appears in the work of their later works. One has only to hear the famous "Arch Duke" or the "Ghost" Trio by Beethoven to realize the enormous growth in Beethoven's development. From Opus 1, Number 1. Still, it is nice on occasion to hear these early works, but perhaps not bunched together on the same evening.

The Ravel Trio is becoming more and more disappointing to these ears with each repeated hearing. The work is very thin, overly simple and almost formless.

The harmonies, without the rich orchestral gloss of Ravel's major orchestral works, seem limited in their ability to convey true harmonic movement and excitement in a musical sense. Like Faure, these modal triads, parallelisms, weaken rather than strengthen the musical content and despite the apparent monothematic development contained within the four movements of the Trio, the music never seems to "get off the ground."

The best music of the evening arrived with the concert in the "Dumka" Trio by Antonin Dvorak, a composition of considerable power, imagination, color, variety, modal and melodic ingenuity and finally, sheer genius.

After all, this work like so many other masterpieces of Dvorak's maturity belong to the great body of chamber music, the equal of the best the nineteenth century produced. The Beaux Arts Trio with this performance ended the concert in extraordinary fashion.

News Of The CHURCHES

TRANSFER REQUESTED
By St. Paul's Priests. The Rev. Frank J. Jazetta of St. Paul's Catholic Church has requested a transfer for personal reasons, he said Tuesday at Our Lady of Princeton, where he will assist the chaplain for about a month. He plans to study sociology, he said.

His unannounced departure from the parish — this week, where he served as youth director, came as a surprise, he said, when he heard it. The Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer, president of the Princeton Pastors' Association, commented.

"We certainly want to express our gratitude to him for the contributions he made in the life of the PPA and the PCUC (Princeton Christian Unity Committee) in the brief time he was here. We wish him well in his on-going ministry and trust that the cooperation among all Christians in this community will continue to grow."

A letter addressed to Bishop George Ahr of the Trenton diocese is being circulated in the community, expressing appreciation for Ahr's plans to work in Princeton.

AUCTION ON SATURDAY
At Rosedale Chapel. A public auction and sale of home-baked goods begins at 10:30 this Saturday at Rosedale Chapel, Carter Road, sponsored by the Board of Deacons. Cole Owsley is chairman, with Delve Kempe and Dr. Frank Beck as co-chairmen.

Auctioneer Warren Dunlap will put up for bid such items as a freshly-dug blue spruce, an antique dining table with chairs, old school desks, and even a collection of used refrigerators.

Donations are still being solicited in the area of house and garden furniture, sporting goods, paintings, china and glassware, lawnmowers and tools, all in good condition. Donations may be left at the lower side entrance of the Chapel or pick-up may be arranged by calling 921-6962 or 921-6538. The Rosedale Women's Auxiliary is in charge of the baked goods sale. Mrs. Samuel Rizzo and Mrs. Edward Paroe are in charge. There will also be a snack bar, under the direction of Edward Paroe and Frank Burke.

BAPTISTS PLAN WEEKEND
At Conference Center. The adults and children of Calvary Baptist Church leave this Saturday for the first of three weekends at the Baptist Conference Center in Lebanon. The normal Sunday program will be transferred to this project. "Styles of Christ: Living" is the program topic, the Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer has planned. Participating in the planning are the Rev. Dr. Kenneth L. Maxwell, Frederick Bauer, James McPherson and Douglas Westover. Mrs. Robert F. Westover is in charge of food preparation.

DR. WATSON TO PREACH
At First Presbyterian. Elder James R. Watson, chairman of the Church and Society Committee at First Presbyterian Church, will give the sermon at the 9 and 11 a.m. services this week in observance of Laymen's Sunday. Dr. Watson is assistant to the president for central legislation at Rutgers, and professor of political science.

Laymen assisting in the 9 a.m. service are Sherwood Skillman and Tristram B. Johnson. At 11, Alfred V. Gluck Jr. and Herbert W. Hobler will assist.

NEW VICAR NAMED

For All Saints' Chapel. The Rev. A. O. Swartzentruber will become vicar of All Saints' Chapel of Trinity Episcopal Parish on December 1.

The announcement was made last week by the Rev. James R. Whittemore, rector. William Flemmer III headed the selection committee. The Rev. Mr. Swartzentruber has previously been attached to the Chapel on a part-time basis.

Born of Canadian Mennonite missionaries, he served as a Mennonite missionary in Brussels and later in Paris, where he established a new congregation.

He came to Princeton in 1958 as a doctoral candidate in the department of religion at Princeton University, and "to assist" in the theological position, the Rev. Mr. Whittemore stated in a letter to the parish. The Rev. Mr. Swartzentruber was ordained to the Episcopal ministry in 1963.

He served as chaplain at Darrig School and as assistant headmaster of St. Agnes School, Albany, N. Y., returning to Princeton in 1966 to write his thesis. He became a part-time assistant at the Chapel.

His appointment was made after four months' search by the 13-member selection committee. His recommendation was endorsed by the Chapel Committee and formally approved by the Rev. Mr. Whittemore. The latter will continue as priest-in-charge at the chapel until December 1.

REV. COHEN TO SPEAK
On Passover Observance. The Rev. Jonas J. Cohen, field evangelist with the American Board of Missions to the Jews, will present a demonstration of Passover at 10:45 a.m. service this Sunday in Princeton Assembly of God Church, Harrison Street and Clearview Avenue.

According to the pastor, the Rev. Michael Munt, "the table will be set. The speaker will don the costume of the Orthodox Jew and explain the elements that are used at the seder." Illustrating the "Jewishness" of Christianity, the purpose of this portrayal is to give an insight to our Christian friends into Jewish customs and our Jewish friends into Christianity.

CONGREGATION TO MEET
At St. Andrew's. The report of the nominating committee for elders and deacons for the class of 1971 will be presented at a congregational meeting this Sunday following the 10:30 a.m. worship service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The 1969 budget will also be presented.

The Rev. F. Hugh Effilion will preside during the worship service on the topic "The Big Question."

TO HEAR NAVY CHAPLAIN

At Church Supper. Navy Chaplain Clark McPhail, a former Marine line officer during the Korean War, will speak this Sunday, following the 5:30 p.m. pot luck supper sponsored by Princeton of Peace Lutheran Church in Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church. His topic is the chaplain's role in the Armed Forces.

Chaplain McPhail is a graduate of Capital University, Columbus, O., where he was also ordained after service in the Marines. He is presently attending Princeton Theological Seminary on a one-year study program. Last week he received the Bronze Star at a Princeton ROTC ceremony.

MAN ARRESTED

In Witherspoon St. Store, Edward S. Dugger, 48, a Princeton man who police say has no address, was arrested shortly after 5 Wednesday morning when he was found in the Country Farm Store at 205 Witherspoon Street.

Answered a call from a resident of the area, police went to the store and spotted Dugger, who police say had been in the store since it opened in 1957, as the Elsie Proctor Matthews Unit. The million dollar addition will increase the extended care center's capacity to some 93 patients.

The opening will coincide with the national observance of Family Health Week.

raised so far in the area's United Fund Red Cross Combined Campaign, some 46 percent of the drive goal of $460,000. Willard Stinger, 1968 chairman for the campaign, reported last week that six area corporations had raised more than $23,000 for the drive. Contributions included American Cyanamid, $10,000; Dos Jones, $4,000; Creative Playthings, $3,914; First National Bank of Princeton, $2,697; American Cancer Society, $1,477; and Gallup & Robinson, $1,280.

Further contributions will be reported this week in meetings of the Mercantile, Professions, Shopping, Center, Building, Trade, College and Special Gifts Divisions, as the drive seeks to surpass its goal for the ninth consecutive year.

32 BEDS ADDED

To Meriwick Unit. A 32-bed addition to Princeton Hospital's Meriwick Unit will receive its first guests after a public open house Sunday, November 17, from 1 to 4. Hospital Administrator John W. Kaufman announced last week.

Located on Bayard Lane, Meriwick has served chronically ill and geriatric patients since it opened in 1957, as the Elsie Proctor Matthews Unit. The million dollar addition will increase the extended care center's capacity to some 93 patients.

By League of Women Voters. The Lawrence Township League of Women Voters has distributed a pamphlet urging the voters to support the findings of the community's Charter Study Commission.

According to the pamphlet, headed by Mrs. Rosalind Wolk and edited by Mrs. Eugene Schneider, a "Council Manager" form of government would serve as "a shot in the arm" for "what ails the governmental structure of Lawrence Township." A trained professional, the council manager would serve as an advisor to the Township Council and have the power to implement Council decisions.

The League is also providing a speakers bureau for groups interested in learning more about the Charter Study Commission's findings. More information is available through Mrs. Schneider or Mrs. F. Stuart Harmon.

CITIZENS FOR HUMPHREY—MUSKIE

We endorse the candidacies of Mr. Humphrey and Mr. Muskie. Our reasons have been best stated by the New York Times in an eloquent editorial:

"Mr. Humphrey has superior claims to the Presidency in three critical areas. The first of these is foreign affairs, specifically arms control and the search for peace. The most important international issue today is a slowing of the nuclear arms race . . . For nearly twenty years Mr. Humphrey has devoted himself tirelessly to this problem . . . In contrast, Mr. Nixon took no initiative on disarmament when he was Vice President and showed much less interest in the subject. He is now urging a delay in the ratification of the Nonproliferation Treaty . . .

" . . . Mr. Humphrey is a proven activist in domestic affairs . . . He fully understands that the desperately urgent needs of the nation's cities for better housing, higher quality education, cleaner air, improved hospitals and mass transit facilities can only be met if there is vigorous Presidential leadership and coherent public planning . . .

"The third area . . . lies in the quality of his political leadership and in the character of his political support . . . Mr. Humphrey is a warm, generous, idealistic open man . . . Looked at in the perspective of his 23 years in public life, Hubert Humphrey is a humanitarian, an authentic and effective liberal, and a man of proved character, courage and judgment who can be depended upon to lead the nation in the ways of peace . . ."

If you wish to avoid four years of Nixon, Agnew, Wallace or LeMay — join with us in working for a Humphrey-Muskie victory. Money is needed. Volunteers are needed. YOU are needed.

It does things other small cars shouldn't do.

Cornering at high speeds is one of the last things to expect small cars to do, successfully. Unless it's a SAAB, the out-of-the-ordinary small car. Out of the ordinary because it has front-wheel drive. So it doesn't push you around like others do. It pulls you around corners, curves and other drivers' mistakes. Is that all SAAB has? Not on your life. Most ordinary cars don't give you, even as options, all the standard SAAB safety features. As an optional extra, our new V-4 engine has a LIFETIME GUARANTEE.

SAAB
You can drive it like a big car.
